WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration officials say a curtailment of Sunday driving is being considered as one way to conserve fuel.

White House energy adviser John A. Love said Monday the administration may soon require the closing of gasoline stations on Sundays.

His deputy, Charles DiBona, told a congressional joint economic committee that a ban on Sunday driving and closing of public parks to automobiles are steps under consideration.

"Knocking out Sunday driving is a real possibility," said DiBona, the President's special assistant for fuel matters.

Asked about a ban on nonessential Sunday driving, Love said, "I don't think it is to be couched in terms of a ban" and then added that there may be an announcement on "the closing of filling stations on Sunday across the nation."

DiBona said a Sunday driving ban would save 660,000 barrels of gasoline a day. Some consideration is being given to making the ban partial so people could go to church, he said.

The administration is also considering instituting Sunday blue laws to close commercial stores and shortening store hours during the week, he said.

Meanwhile, the Senate passed and sent to the House emergency energy legislation that would give President Nixon the power to order gasoline rationing.

And the House Democratic leadership responded to Nixon's criticism of Congress' performance in the energy crisis by accusing the President of "unwillingness to acknowledge the magnitude of the crisis and ... lack of any direction in dealing with it."

In other energy-related developments Monday:

—Germany and Denmark joined Holland and Belgium in banning Sunday pleasure driving because of the Arab oil squeeze on Europe.

—The Pentagon announced that 27 senior Defense officials have given up their big sedans for smaller, more economical cars as a means of saving fuel. A spokesman said Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger is considering whether to keep his Cadillac limousine.

—Postmaster Gen. E.T. Klassen said fuel shortages may hamper mail handling during the Christmas season and beyond. He said service could suffer in December because of the elimination of 300 scheduled airplane flights per day as a fuel-saving measure.

—The Environmental Defense Fund said intercity bus lines should be exempted from 50 mile per hour speed limits. The environmental organization said intercity buses are more than twice as efficient as automobiles in energy use per passenger mile.

Thanksgiving travelers may find more service stations closed this year than they did last year, but supplies of gasoline seem to be holding up well, an American Automobile Association spokesman said today.

Kay Aldous said spot checks by the nationwide organization showed no major gasoline shortages, although he said he had received reports that isolated service stations were limiting sales.

"The thing that should be emphasized is that there will be no major inconveniences for holiday travel," he said. "There are no problems of fuel at this time although, over the holidays, it is likely that a number of stations will be operating on schedules similar to what they've been doing on Sunday since Labor Day."

Aldous based his prediction about more Thanksgiving closings on "a pattern that we've watched for 13 weeks."

Ohio Air Force bases cut energy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio's two largest Air Force bases have joined other government agencies in the drive to save energy.

Officials at both Lockbourne Air Force Base at Columbus and Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton have been making big and small decisions designed to curb the use of fuel and electricity.

Some workers at Lockbourne, for instance, may have to walk a little farther for their coffee breaks. After officials surveyed office coffee pots, they told the coffee drinkers to double up. So, for example, an office building floor will have only one pot perking instead of five.

At Wright-Patterson, airmen are choosing soft drinks from unlighted vending machines. Base Commander Brig. Gen. Irby Jarvis Jr. ordered the lights turned out because there are over 700 machines on the base and lighting them burns a lot of electricity.

Lockbourne officials have begun banning space heaters. Lt. Mike McDonald said the small heaters had been used to warm secretaries' legs.

He said base civil engineers at the Columbus base are now using taxis and

Governors push Nixon for answers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Republican governors are urging President Nixon to clear up the Watergate problem in a statement that praises what they called his determination to make a full disclosure.

The governors, debating the impact of Watergate on their own fortunes, approved a carefully worded message to Nixon in anticipation of his scheduled visit today.

The resolution, billed as a strong endorsement of the President, was adopted Monday by the Republican Governors Association. It praised Nixon's accomplishments, listing among them his handling of a range of problems from the Middle East to the energy crisis.

But sources who attended the closed meeting said the last paragraph was strengthened to let Nixon know as politely as possible that the governors hope the President will continue his new tack of disclosure until Watergate is resolved. It said:

"We applaud the determination of the President to make full disclosure to the public concerning Watergate, and we look forward to his visit to this conference ... as a part of that effort."

Virginia Gov. Linwood Holton, association chairman, said the reference to Nixon's "determination ... to make full disclosure" was added at the insistence of Govs. Daniel J. Evans of Washington and Tom McCall of Oregon.

Aronoff seeks No. 2 post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, announced today he will seek the GOP nomination for lieutenant governor in 1974.

Aronoff said he will wage a campaign that will meet Watergate "head on" because, he said, "1974 will be a year in which all candidates, Democrats and Republicans alike, will be viewed by the public through microscopes sharpened by Watergate-colored lenses."

Panel approves Ford nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules committee today voted unanimously to approve the nomination of House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford as vice president.

The vote sends Ford's nomination to the Senate floor.

House leaders plan a final vote in that body next week.

Space plumbing work successful

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A space plumbing job has increased chances the Skylab 3 astronauts will be able to complete a full 84-day orbital mission, space agency officials say.

"We're feeling pretty good about it," astronaut William R. Pogue said Monday after he replenished liquid that had leaked out of a refrigeration loop. The system keeps batteries and electronic equipment from burning out.

It became inoperable during the Skylab 2 mission in August and that crew switched to a backup loop. The secondary system also has a small leak and might also have given out within a few weeks.

Loss of both cooling loops would result in early termination of the mission, said flight director Neil Hutchinson.

Skylab 3 astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and Pogue carried a repair kit and extra cooling fluid when they rocketed up to the orbiting laboratory last Friday.

The fix-it job was to have taken two hours. But Pogue had trouble punching a hole in the coolant line and in checking for leaks in the repair lines. After four hours he finished up and reported, "It's on and it's looking clean."

Community prepares for Thanksgiving Day

Many citizens give thanks for their many blessings at special services Wednesday evening in the churches and at family dinners Thursday in observance of the traditional Thanksgiving Day.

The annual Community Thanksgiving service this year will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Grace United Methodist Church under sponsorship of the Fayette County Ministerial Association. The Rev. T. Mark Dove, grace pastor, will deliver the sermon on "Thanksgiving Is a Decision."

The Rev. Ralph Wolford, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will give the call to worship, the invocation and the Prayer of Thanksgiving. The Rev. Gerald Wheat, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and president of the Ministerial Association, will conduct the Scripture lesson, recite the Apostles' Creed and offer the pastoral prayer.

There also will be special music by the Grace Church Chancel Choir. The offering will go into the Memorial Hospital Chaplain's fund.

AT THE Hickory Lane Church of Christ, the regular Wednesday evening prayer service will be devoted to the spirit of Thanksgiving in the message by the pastor, the Rev. Keith Wooley.

The regular Thursday evening Bible study and prayer meeting at the Church of Christ in Christian Union will be moved up to Thanksgiving Eve with the meditation led by the pastor, the Rev. Robert Kline.

Senate, Ford's civil rights voting record and leadership capacity were challenged Monday at House hearings.

Clarence Mitchell Jr., Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said three of Ford's votes "show that he has a restricted approach to civil rights."

Taking a position for or against Ford was against NAACP policy, Mitchell told the House Judiciary Committee. But he said he hoped congressmen, before confirming Ford, would satisfy themselves "that his posture as vice president would not be the same as it was as congressman."

Mitchell said he was confident that Ford would step in to prevent a black person from being refused entry, for example to a restaurant — but said Ford has fallen short on his civil rights voting record.

Mitchell turned over to the committee an analysis of 54 civil rights votes by Ford, 28 of which the NAACP considered in favor of civil rights and 26 of which it considered against.

He said the three votes showing Ford's "restrictive approach" were on the Voting Rights Act of 1965, the Fair Housing Act of 1968 and an amendment involving the constitutionality of a House antibusing bill.

Although Ford's final votes were for both the voting rights and fair housing laws now on the books, his initial votes were for Nixon administration substitutes that Mitchell contended would make the two laws "largely ineffective at this time," Mitchell said.

Rep. Michael J. Harrington, D-Mass., said Congress should reject Ford's nomination because of "lack of a demonstrated capacity for leadership."

Acting as a stand-in for the nation's electorate, Congress should "examine all the talent presently available" and insist that President Nixon nominate someone with proven leadership ability, Harrington said.

He suggested New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and presidential adviser Melvin R. Laird as possibilities.

"Honesty and decency are not enough," Harrington said of Ford. "We also must look for proven qualities of leadership and an ability to serve as a focal point around which a country, a troubled country as I view it, can rally."

Energy pinch hurts stock market

NEW YORK (AP) — Analysts say growing investor concern that an energy crisis might lead to a major recession in 1974 is the factor which is sending the stock market plunging.

Monday's drop of 28.67 points was the worst day for the Dow Jones average in 11 years.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, used widely as an indicator of general market trends, fell Monday to 862.66, the fifth largest daily drop in its history.

It was the blue chip indicator's biggest single-day loss since May 28, 1962, during a confrontation between the major steel companies and President John F. Kennedy. It dropped 34.94 points on that occasion.

The broader based New York Stock Exchange index of 1,500 common stocks fell 1.72 to 53.76, its steepest single-day decline since its inception in July 1966.

Analysts said a further indicator of the broadness of the decline was that an extraordinary amount of New York Stock Exchange issues — 1,404 — lost ground, compared to only 198 making advances during the trading session.

"This energy crisis is very hard to quantify and investors are uncertain about it," said Alan Shaw of Harris, Upham & Co. "No one knows whether it means an all-out recession or worse."

Analysts said another factor in the major decline in the market was that the institutions — banks, insurance companies and mutual funds — which dominate it generally stood aside during the energy crisis uncertainties and did not trade.

"The institutions' normal reaction to

Oklahoma twister kills five

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A major autumn storm packing heavy snow, subzero temperatures and thunderstorms whipped the mid-continent today after a tornado attack left five dead Monday.

The tornadoes triggered in Oklahoma by a clash of warm and frigid air left at least 30 injured. Authorities said three of the five dead were infants.

Funnel clouds touched down in north-central and northwestern Oklahoma and in northwestern Kansas, damaging property, uprooting trees, downing power lines and overturning mobile homes.

Subzero cold stung the northern border states; heavy thunderstorms washed over the Plains; and heavy snows accumulated in the mountains of the Southwest.

A foot of snow clogged mountain areas of New Mexico, and travel became hazardous in northern sections of the state.

Thunderstorms unleashed heavy rain on the central Plains. Oklahoma City was hit by nearly two inches of rain; and Emporia, Kan., and Grand Island, Neb., had well over an inch before dawn.

Snow also developed in the colder air to the west and northwest of the storm center. North Platte, Neb.; Goodland, Kan.; Denver; and Lamar, Colo., all had three inches of new snow before daybreak.

A foot of snow whitened the foothills southwest of Denver, and heavy-snow warnings were issued for the Colorado mountains for tonight.

Temperatures dipped below zero in Montana and North Dakota and into the 20s as far south as western Kansas and northern New Mexico. A coldwave warning was posted for central and southwestern Oklahoma.

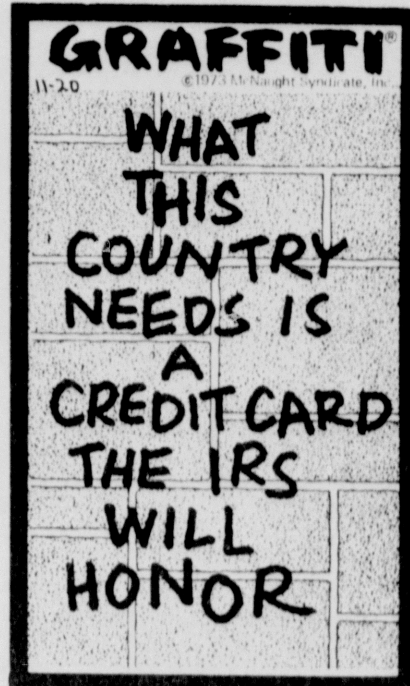

A large storm with rain and snow spread into the Pacific Northwest. Storm warnings were issued for the Washington and Oregon coasts, and gales were expected south as far as northwestern California.

Dense fog covered the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys and parts of the south Atlantic coastal region.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 6 at Havre, Mont., to 78 at Key West, Fla., and Kingsville and Corpus Christi, Tex.

Eligibility bill on Saxbe job awaiting vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee is nearing a vote on a bill intended to remove a constitutional barrier to the appointment of Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, as attorney general.

The balloting was slated for the committee's closed meeting today. It also was considering action on legislation to provide for court appointment of a special Watergate prosecutor.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he hopes both matters can be disposed of, making unnecessary a meeting previously scheduled for Wednesday on the prosecutor bill.

Saxbe's nomination to succeed Elliot L. Richardson as attorney general has been held up because of a provision of the Constitution. The provision bars appointment of Congress members to offices for which the salary was increased during their elected terms.

Saxbe was a member of the Senate in 1969 when the salary of the attorney general and other Cabinet officers was increased from $35,000 a year to $60,000.

The administration has proposed legislation to roll back the attorney general's pay to $35,000 in an effort to overcome Saxbe's disqualification for appointment to the post.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert G. Dixon, Jr., told the Judiciary Committee Monday that passage of the bill would satisfy the intent of the ineligibility provision because Saxbe would not benefit from the 1969 salary increase.

This position was supported by a Duke University law professor, William Van Alstyne, but three other law school professors testified that legislation could not overcome the Constitutional prohibition.

Polite robbers

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Two polite robbers took $285 from an Upper Sandusky grocery store Monday night, police said.

Officers said the two robbers ordered the woman clerk to fill a bag with money. They expressed their appreciation when she complied, police said.

No suspects have been arrested.

Tanks and troops still patrol Greece

ATHENS (AP) — Tanks and troops remained on patrol in Athens today as strongman President George Papadopoulos continued an apparent waiting game with youths and workers calling for his overthrow.

There was no indication when the tanks will be withdrawn, and no way to tell whether the demonstrators plan to go back on the streets when the army leaves. There were about 15,000 demonstrators active at the height of the disorders last week and during the weekend, which left 11 persons dead and at least 148 injured.

Monday was the first day of relative calm since the rioting. Soldiers and police picked up scores of youths, workers and local union leaders for allegedly violating the martial law restrictions.

Some were later set free. But others got stiff sentences from the military tribunals, including prison terms of four and five years for six construction workers convicted of assembling in a group of more than five.

Spyridon Jounatis, undersecretary to Premier Spyros Markezinis, said 204 persons have been detained since the rioting.

Europe plans own document on relations with U. S.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — President Nixon's "Year of Europe" apparently will end with a declaration of Western Europe's own identity — drawn up by the Europeans themselves with no participation by the President.

The Nixon administration had hoped to publish a "new Atlantic Charter" this year, with contributions by itself and all the other members of the Atlantic community. But the administration's plans went astray as matters other than Europe took the White House's attention and conflicts with the Europeans arose over the document itself.

of Christ and the First Christian Church of Washington C.H. will hold a combined Thanksgiving Eve service at 7:30 p.m. in the Washington C.H. Church. Each of the pastors, the Rev. Conrad Bower, of the Jeffersonville church, the Rev. Victor Slutz, of the New Holland church, and the Rev. Don Baker, of the host church, will deliver brief sermons on the church, the country and the home. There also will be special music.

A special service, which will include a message by the pastor, the Rev. Eugene Griffith, music by the Children's Choir and a short film, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thanksgiving Eve in the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church.

The three churches of the New Holland United Methodist Church Charge — New Holland, Atlanta and Hebron — will hold a combined Thanksgiving Eve service at the New Holland Church. There will be special music and the pastor of all three churches, the Rev. Printis Spear, will deliver the message of Thanksgiving.

Congregations of the Bloomingburg and Madison Mills United Methodist Churches will meet in the Bloomingburg church at 9 a.m. Thanksgiving Day for a Holy Communion service conducted by the pastor of the two churches, the Rev. Frank Allen White.

Most of the churches in the community also will have special services Thanksgiving Eve.

MOST, but not all stores, will be closed all day Thursday in observance of the holiday. Offices in the City Hall and Courthouse will be closed for Thanksgiving Day; so will be the state and federal bureau offices. The Post Office will follow the usual curtailed holiday service of no mail deliveries in the city or on rural routes; the lobby will be open but the stamp windows will not.

Carnegie Public Library will be closed at 6 p.m. Wednesday and not reopen until Friday.

The city and Miami Trace District schools will have holidays both Thursday and Friday; classes will be resumed on schedule Monday.

The Record-Herald will not be published on Thanksgiving Day.

FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT officers and firemen, Thanksgiving Day will be just another day. Both Police Chief Rodman Scott and Sheriff Don Thompson said they are expecting the usual holiday traffic increase, starting Wednesday afternoon and continuing through Sunday, and have made preparations to try not only to keep it on the safe side, but also to encourage drivers to observe the fuel-conserving 50 mph speed limit recommended by the President.

Return of Israeli POWs slow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Red Cross plane that was supposed to bring Israeli POWs from Cairo to Tel Aviv landed as scheduled today but without the prisoners, the Israeli state radio said.

The plane was to have brought another 20 Israeli POWs home from Cairo as part of the six-point plan signed by Egypt and Israel to reinforce the U.N. cease-fire agreement that ended the October war.

The captain of the aircraft was quoted by the radio as saying the reasons for the empty plane were "technical," and after waiting at Cairo Airport for two hours he had to be told by the Egyptian Red Cross to fly to Tel Aviv without his passengers.

A Red Cross official in Tel Aviv said he had been informed by Cairo via his office in Geneva that the prisoners were to arrive later.

So far Israel has received 162 of its 247 soldiers captured by Egypt in the war and has repatriated more than 6,500 Egyptian prisoners.

Israeli Commerce Secretary Haim Bar-Lev said Israeli industrial manpower is down 20 per cent in the wake of the war.

Bar Lev told a special session of the Israel Management Center in Tel Aviv that immigration and the return of Arab workers from occupied territories would not relieve the labor shortage.

A Commerce Ministry spokesman said 80,000 of Israel's 295,000 industrial laborers were still on full-time reserve duty in the army.

In Washington, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told a news conference a cutoff of U.S. farm product shipments to the Middle East in retaliation for the Arab oil embargo would simply irritate the situation without putting pressure on the Arabs.

He said U.S. grain exports to the Arab nations were not high enough to be significant, "and in view of the fact that the Russian nation has a much easier grain situation than a year ago they could very easily make up the deficit of anything we cut off."

The Defense Department, meanwhile, canceled the six-week-old military alert for the 6th Fleet. It cited a sufficient easing of tensions in the Middle East and a reduction in the Soviet fleet in the Mediterranean.

Change habits, Schultz urges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation will have to change the habits of an era in order to avert a recession while limiting energy use, Treasury Secretary George P. Schultz says.

"I believe we should place top priority on jobs. We ought to try to insulate our industries from too great an impact," Schultz said of cutbacks which may be required by the energy crisis.

Speaking at a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Schultz said limits will have to be made in consumer use of energy.

The nation will have to get over the habits of an era of "easier use of energy," he said.

And in order to avert a recession, the action taken must be "sharp and relentless and tough," he said.

"If we recognize the problem as a significant crisis, as it is, both in the short term and in the long term, and are willing to take tough decisions, I think we have the ability to manage the problem without undue disruption of our economy," Schultz said.

He said the nation needs to protect the aluminum and petrochemical industries, which use large amounts of energy, while "taking very sharp action" to curtail other uses through allocation powers.

Schultz said he hoped gasoline rationing will not be necessary.

"My instinct is against it," he said. Schultz noted that he had been reading a summary of rationing problems during World War II, and mentioned the nationwide black market in gasoline, stolen coupons, counterfeit coupons and over applications by users.

Fire levels city garage

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Fire early today destroyed the Uhrichville city garage, while firemen from Uhrichville and nearby Dennison battled the flames.

The garage and most of the tools and equipment stored inside were described as a total loss, although the city said it believed it could salvage a street sweeper stored in a newer, concrete block portion of the building.

A passing trucker spotted the fire and called the fire department at 4:42 a.m.

The garage, located on the city's west side, was a wood frame building that until 1967 was occupied by a lumber company. The garage was expanded last year and housed most of the city's service operations.

No cause or dollar estimate of damage was immediately available.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohioans to Impeach the President is launching a petition campaign to indicate support for impeachment of President Nixon, a spokesman for the group said Monday night.

Dry weather during the day with showers likely later tonight is the prediction of the National Weather Service for Ohio. The expected showers are associated with a low pressure area situated over Oklahoma Tuesday morning, and moving northward.

Looking ahead into the last half of the week, no extreme weather is in sight. Any precipitation will likely be in the form of rain rather than snow, as temperatures average a little above normal.

Late Monday night temperatures over the state were in the upper 30s and lower 40s, under partly cloudy skies, with scattered patches of fog.

A chance of showers Thursday and again about Saturday. Highs Thursday through Saturday from the mid 40s to mid 50s. Lows in the upper 30s and 40s.

No motive in Cambodian palace attack

PHNOM PENH (AP) — The whereabouts and motives of the Cambodian air force pilot who bombed President Lon Nol's palace compound remained a mystery today.

The raid against the compound Monday killed three persons and wounded 10, witnesses said. It was the second such incident since March 17.

Military sources at Cambodian headquarters said the bombs were dropped by a T28 fighter returning from a mission 10 miles south of the capital.

The informants said the pilot, identified as Lt. Pich Lim Kuong, radioed during the mission that his bombs would not release. He broke away from his formation, heading for the palace as the other planes prepared to land, they added.

After dropping the last of four bombs, his plane flew low and then headed east, according to antiaircraft gunners stationed around the palace.

Meanwhile, government troops on the capital's southern front recaptured Kompong Kantuot and gained control of all 13 miles of Rte. 38, the military command said.

The east-west road forms Phnom Penh's southern defense perimeter, and government troops have not had complete control over it since before the end of U.S. bombing Aug. 15.

In South Vietnam, Communist-led troops foraging for rice clashed with government infantrymen in the Mekong Delta province of Kien Tuong, the Saigon command said.

Ten North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed in the early morning action northeast of Tuyen Nhon district town, 35 miles southwest of Saigon, for the loss of two government soldiers killed and five wounded, a communique said.

Energy, financial problems confront city school board

Limited resources, both financial and natural, provided the outline for discussion in policy-making at the meeting of the Washington C. H. Board of Education Monday night.

The defeat of the proposed 2-mill increase in tax revenues at the polls and the national fuel crisis were discussed at length, and the need for trimming the system's expenditures overshadowed the desires and aspirations of board members.

Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor recently released to teachers in the system a set of guidelines for the conservation of heat (and therefore fuel) during school hours.

The guidelines are: (1) Thermostats in all buildings will be no higher than 70 degrees; (2) keep doors and windows closed; (3) reduce heating to lowest levels possible when buildings are occupied, but avoiding the risk of freezing water lines; (4) continue efforts to conserve electricity for lighting purposes, and (5) evening activities will be kept to a minimum.

Monday he explained to the board that the Gulf Oil Co., with whom the schools have a contract for heating oil, is tied by the governmental allotment program and cannot deliver any oil until February because there was no order by the city schools for oil until February last year. At present, the schools' three tanks (Belle Aire, Eastside and at Junior High) are approximately three-quarters full. Barring a period of extremely unseasonable temperatures careful use of existing supplies should avert any major difficulty. Gulf has promised 12,000 gallons of oil in February which should be adequate for the remaining cold months.

IN DISCUSSING the implications of the defeated additional school tax, the board reiterated its position that a hike in teachers' salaries must remain a top priority if quality education is to be maintained in the system. Therefore board members stressed limiting other expenditures to a minimum. Special committee meetings will be held to set secondary priorities.

Classroom visitation by other teachers within the system had been proposed to the board, but this program was deferred due to austerity considerations. While in theory the board feels that it would be worthwhile for teachers to visit outside classrooms to view the teaching methods of their fellow teachers, the cost of substitute teachers for the vacated class is not within the range of the current budget.

The board did approve a request that two deaf children living here be sent to the Alexander Graham Bell School in Columbus. The city school system will pay the tuition and traveling expenses for the children. The larger part of this money will be reimbursed by the state.

David Kearney, a student at Wilmington College who is now a student teacher of physical education in Washington C. H., will be offered the position as ninth grade basketball coach. The board approved a recommendation that he be offered the job. Kearney will graduate in December and be available as a substitute teacher as well as a coach.

JUNIOR HIGH Principal Ben Roby attended the meeting and reported that the mini-course program at Junior High has been well received, and is now entering its second group of course offerings. The special courses are held once a week for an hour and are dedicated to hobbies and other projects. Some of the courses being offered are bicycle repair, hunting, knitting, crewel embroidery and the making of Christmas decorations. The program helps to open new lines of communication between the students and teachers, administrators feel.

Board approval was given to a request by the Kiwanis Club for use of the Junior High auditorium April 19 for the Teen Talent Show. Before approval was granted, the board noted that due to the spring date, this should put no great strain on fuel supplies and that the proceeds are used for scholarships for graduating seniors from Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools.

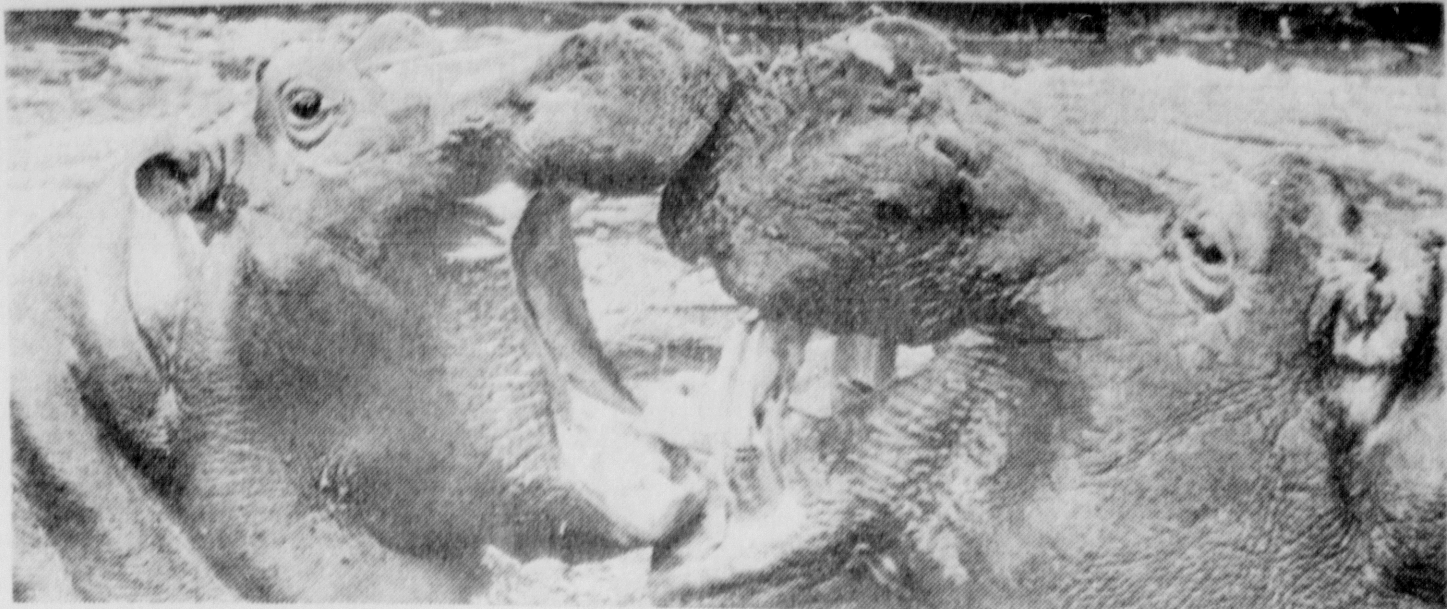

Bids on insurance for school buildings had been received recently by the superintendent and the board accepted the lowest of the three bids offered. Willis Insurance with whom the buildings have been insured in the past, was awarded the contract.

More candidates file statements

Two more candidates have filed campaign expense statements with the Fayette County Board of Elections.

John R. Blair, unsuccessful candidate for a seat on the Jefferson Township Board of Trustees, listed expenses of $59.65, and Harvey Glispie, unsuccessful in a bid for a seat on Milledgeville Village Council, had no expenses.

Candidates have until Dec. 21 to file expense statements.

The board approved requests submitted by Probate-Juvenile Judge Rollo M. Marchant to attend the Probate Law Institute at Ohio Northern University Dec. 7; Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman to attend the Common Pleas Judges convention in Columbus Dec. 5-8; Sheriff Donald L. Thompson and Chief Deputy Robert W. Opinion And Comment

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

How the energy crisis started?

WASHINGTON — Passing the knife between the Democrats in Congress and the White House for responsibility for the energy crisis is the newest piece of gamesmanship. Each side is accusing the other of neglect, indifference, drift.

Democratic senators close to the developing crisis with all it will mean to the average citizen see a scenario roughly as follows: President Nixon bent on his re-election to a second term was determined to avoid rocking the ship of state in any way. While they were not present and therefore do not have first-hand knowledge, these senators believe a crucial decision was made at a meeting in the White House in midsummer in 1971.

The President called in his principal advisers to lay down the law for 1972. The group included Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans and Attorney General John N. Mitchell, both now under indictment on charges growing out of secret cash contributions to the Nixon campaign fund. The President began the discussion with this preamble:

"In 1960 I was defeated by a narrow squeak. In 1968 I was elected by a narrow squeak. I don't want a squeak in 1972. I want an overwhelming mandate and that is why I have called you here."

He told them he wanted a campaign chest raised of not less than $50 million. As it turned out the total raised by Mitchell, Stans and Co. was closer to $60 million. That was thanks in part to what one business executive charged was the "extortion" practiced by Stans.

THE OIL COMPANIES contributed many millions to the total. So did the motor manufacturers. To have moved with any real force on the energy crisis that was already visible would have outraged these big contributors. For example, a horsepower tax penalizing the gas guzzlers would have angered not only the motor moguls but the President's many friends who drive the guzzlers.

The full consequences of the Middle East war could hardly have been foreseen by either the White House or the Congress. The warning signs should have been evident, however, in the fulmination of the Arabs over American policy towards Israel. Whether anything could have been done even if the signs had been properly read is another matter. In any event, nothing was done.

Of the utmost urgency now is to find a way out of the energy crisis, not alone as it touches the American consumer but as the oil squeeze hits Western Europe and Japan. The rift in the NATO alliance is so serious growing out of the Middle East conflict and the oil pinch that some Western diplomats feel it is beyond repair.

They are concerned, too, with loose talk about what drastic action can be taken to restore the flow of Arab oil.

NATO ambassadors have heard at a middle level from American officials the possibility of American paratroop forces moving into the chief Arab oil suppliers.

This is, of course, fantasy. Such a contingency plan — contingency plans blossom in the Pentagon like the night blooming cereus — was considered in June by the joint chiefs of staff and rejected. Any such move would bring instant reprisals in sabotage blowing up pipelines and refineries.

WHETHER the worldwide alert was justified by the threat of Soviet intervention in the Middle East or whether it was another example of Nixon's overreaction will long be debated. But it was the way in which the alert was imposed without any prior notice to the European allies that spook their confidence.

They have not forgotten the President's unfortunate press conference statement when he seemed to be warning the Arabs that without a market their oil would be worthless. The market is in Western Europe and Japan and, without the oil, their industrial life would grind dangerously close to a halt.

In the same context the President made what appeared to the Arabs to be a threatening reference to what happened when in Iran Mohammed Mossadegh set out to nationalize Western oil properties and was overthrown. That was 20 years ago and when Iranian oil was a minor factor in world production.

In his energy message Nixon said increased production from the Navy's Elk Hills could be increased in 60 days to cut back shortages by 8 per cent. That would be a beginning if a small beginning in meeting a crisis such as has rarely if ever threatened peacetime America.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

Wednesday, Nov. 21

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Self-reliance should be your keyword now. Don't let others do your thinking for you. Neither let anyone sway you from pursuing planned objectives.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Your competition will be keen now, but the challenge should prove stimulating. A good chance to display your ingenuity and know-how.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

A day which you can mold much to your liking. Take a firm and knowing hand early and plan your schedule smartly. Make no snap decisions, however.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Day calls for your steadiest heart and hand. Don't try to swim against the tide and don't try to force issues.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

By interpreting situations arbitrarily, you may miss intended meanings. Do not hesitate to call in clever associates for more ideas. Day needs collaboration, teamwork.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Some requests may annoy, but think them over carefully. Compliance COULD prove profitable in the long run — and bring you satisfaction as well.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Creative interests stimulated. Your ideas are not only inspirational but highly feasible. Also favored: Romance and family concerns.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may be concerned about the "whys and wherefores" of certain events. Insights ARE available, but you'll need the help and knowledge of a close associate to attain them.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A brand new financial start indicated — accompanied by high hopes, which CAN be realized. You MUST take the initiative, however — and confidently.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Follow up a potentially good tip you once brushed aside — but not impulsively or unprepared. For best results, you MUST have a definite plan.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You may be attracted to an individual who seems aloof, indifferent. Making a gesture of friendship could prove to be an important move in changing the situation.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Permit others to "be themselves." The Piscean rarely tries to dominate, but such inclinations prevail now. Be especially receptive to ideas from your mate or business associates.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great strength of purpose and the acumen needed to handle big enterprises; also, unlike many of your sign, the patience for tedious tasks. Scorpio is a Sign of resolution, determination and that "sixth sense" so valuable in handling emergencies. Once you curb your tendencies toward overaggressiveness, your innate vision and industriousness will help you to climb the steepest hills. You have a keen sense of the dramatic and could succeed in the theater — especially as an actor or playwright; have considerable inventive ability and gifts for music, dancing and writing.

Double vote explained

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—No criminal action will be taken against a Salineville couple who admitted they voted twice in the Nov. 6 general election.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and the Columbiana County Board of Elections decided against action following a public hearing Monday.

Testimony disclosed that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lindesmith voted in Washington Township and then, realizing that they did not get to vote in the Salineville council races, went to Precinct A in the village and voted again.

Precinct workers testified the couple told them they had previously voted in the township but would try to have those ballots invalidated. The Lindesmiths said they were unaware at the time that once their votes were cast there was no way to have them invalidated.

Brown said precinct workers must be more observant to prevent double voting again.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Remarry and don't worry about the kids

DEAR ABBY: Do you think an 80-year-old man is foolish to consider remarriage? Some of my children do. I am a widower who has been alone for 12 years, during which time I have been in the company of some lovely eligible women. But I never have wanted to marry until I met My Fair Lady. She is 65 and has been a widow for 10 years.

We are both in reasonably good health, and we would like to spend the rest of our lives together, making each other happy. All our children are married. Some approve of our plans to marry; some do not.

I own my own home and have a little money. In view of the mixed feelings of our children, should we sneak off and get married by a preacher with just a few friends as witnesses? Or should we have a small church wedding, invite all the children, and let those who want to, come, and those who don't, stay home?

YOUNG AT HEART

DEAR YOUNG: Why sneak? Do whatever pleases you and your Fair Lady. The last thing you should worry about is what your children think.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend and I are both 17. When Lydia does something to displease her parents, they make her stand in a corner.

A couple of times when I've come to take her out on a date, her father has said: "Lydia can leave in about 10 minutes after she's through standing in the corner." So I just sit and cool my heels while Lydia stands in the corner with her face to the wall.

I think this is a ridiculous way to punish a 17-year-old girl, but of course it's not my place to butt in.

Are you familiar with this stupid punishment? And if so, what's the reason for it? And what do you think of using it on a 17-year-old?

FEELING WEIRD IN MD.

DEAR WEIRD: Yes, I'm familiar with it. It's a very effective way to make a child settle down and reflect on the reason he's being punished. But to use it on a girl of dating age, in the presence of her date, I think is cruel and unusual punishment.

DEAR ABBY: Our church recently installed a set of "chimes"—a large tape player and four huge speakers, mounted on top of the church. The music is all hymns, played on an organ with loud bells. They play it at least once a day from 15 to 45 minutes, and sometimes it's played three times a day.

This can be heard all over town, and people who live four miles away from town say they are disturbed by it, too.

I live near the church, and this is pretty hard to take. It's impossible to carry on a conversation (in our house, mind you) and this music is too loud to be considered pretty.

I think church music belongs IN church. If teen-agers played their rock music this loud at a party, the police would break up the party and charge the kids with disturbing the peace.

This is a small town. My peace is disturbed. I am a taxpaying senior citizen who has asked the pastor of the church to please tone the music down. He did for a while. Now it's as loud as ever. Maybe if you print this, it will help.

SMALL TOWN

DEAR SMALL TOWN: I hope so. I nearly got a headache reading your letter.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HURT IN ESSEX JUNCTION, VT.: Heed the wise words of Noah Webster: "By taking revenge, a man is even with his enemy, but by passing it over, he is superior." Now is your opportunity to be superior.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — More negotiations are afoot this month and the next as the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists tries to reach agreement with the three networks on new contracts.

AFTRA's current one-year pacts with CBS, NBC and ABC expired quietly last Thursday, but the contracts are being extended daily while the talks continue, union officials say.

There's no indication a strike is coming, although Sanford "Bud" Wolff, AFTRA's national executive secretary, notes that a strike is always a possibility during any contract negotiations.

The only AFTRA strike occurred in March 1967 and lasted 13 days before an agreement was reached with the three networks.

The union, which claims 29,000 members nationally, represents not only performers and announcers but also the newsmen and anchormen at the networks and network-owned broadcast outlets.

Wolff said AFTRA is seeking the three-year contract it usually has with the networks. Its old one-year pact was made in hope the federal wage freeze would have thawed by now, he added.

One of AFTRA's more prominent members—Dick Cavett—has negotiating problems of his own with ABC. The network has proposed putting his late hour talk show on only one night every two weeks, starting in January.

John Gilroy, producer of Cavett's critically acclaimed but low-rated program, described Cavett as "surprised" by the proposal. He said the star was making counter proposals that can't be made public during negotiations with ABC.

Cavett's show began on a five-night-a-week basis in late 1969 but was cut back to one week a month last January as part of ABC's new late-hour "Wide World of Entertainment" format.

Gilroy was asked if he thought ABC was trying to give Cavett, whose contract-renewal option with ABC expired Nov. 1, what some might call the old heave-ho.

"No, from the talks we've had with ABC, they've been very sincere in their desire to keep Dick on the air," he said.

He said ABC told Cavett it wanted to make the proposed move to increase the number of specials—and, I might add, the ratings—on its "Wide World" effort against NBC's "Tonight" show. ABC declined to comment on all this during the negotiations. But stay tuned. Cavett has survived one near-cancellation, and he may well survive the proposed reduction this time.

The age of the earth is estimated at about 6,500 million years.

Fuel pinch could hike food prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz says groceries will cost more a year from now if farmers do not get the fuel they need to plant and harvest 1974 crops.

Larger crop production next year is a mainstay of Nixon administration strategy for coping with rising food prices. More wheat, corn and soybeans also are needed to fill export orders and build reserves in 1974-75.

Butz said Monday that, in addition to possible fuel shortages, a move toward export controls would cool farmers' enthusiasm for expanding output next year.

"If we curtail our output for any reason, it will tend to put up the price of food products in this country," Butz told a news conference.

"If we can give our producers assurance that the export markets can continue open, that we are going to press for trade liberalization, we can then go to them and say, 'Look, let's have all-out production next year,'" he said.

Butz repeated his contention that export controls on U.S. farm products would do more harm than good. Such curbs are "vigorously opposed" by many others in the administration, he said.

But the fuel problem poses a major hurdle for expanding crop production, Butz said.

"Our best estimate is that, if farmers operate the same way they did the past year — with the additional acres they're going to have next year — our fuel requirements may go up more than three per cent," he said.

That requirement is in the face of an over-all U.S. energy deficit estimated to be at least 17 per cent in the coming year.

If farmers do not adopt fuel-conserving practices and operate as they did this year, Butz and other USDA experts say, about 8.2 billion gallons of petroleum of all kinds will be needed in 1974, up from 7.7 billion estimated for this year.

Diesel fuel alone, which runs about 40 per cent of the nation's farm power equipment, could go up to nearly 2.8 billion gallons next year from about 2.5 billion in 1973.

"I think we have to do our very best to make sure that no tractor sits idle because of a lack of fuel," Butz said, noting that the government issued orders last Friday to give farmers priority for fuel allocation the next 60 days.

Farmers eye stream pollution

By WILLIAM KRONHOLM
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio farmers have more than crops to worry about. They have to worry about polluting Buckeye streams.

The problem is how to keep the wastes of 2.2 million head of cattle, 13.5 million chickens, 2.6 million hogs and pigs and 672,000 sheep and lambs on the land and not in the water.

"It's a very potent waste," said Thor Alexander of the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency. "It can be very damaging to streams."

The wildlife division of the Ohio Natural Resources Department said 38,788 wild animals — virtually all fish or crayfish — were killed last year by farm wastes.

Most of the kills resulted from chicken manure, agricultural chemicals and silo liquors, said Dale Roach, enforcement supervisor for the wildlife division. He said the wastes "will kill anything in the water."

"It takes the oxygen out of the water," Roach said. "It will just take it all out, and the fish will suffocate."

Farm wastes generally are disposed of by spreading them on the land according to a set formula. Accidents occur if the land is overloaded, so runoff takes the waste into streams, or if storage lagoons overflow, Roach said.

Roach said one farmer in Stark County intentionally emptied his lagoon into a nearby stream last year.

"When we started to investigate, he got mad and went and did it again,"

Roach said. He said the chicken manure released killed about 6,000 fish. The farmer pleaded no contest to criminal charges and was fined $1,000, Roach said.

"But for the most part, the farmers are doing a good job," Roach said.

Fish kills from farm waste account for only about one per cent of the 3.8 million fish killed last year from all pollution sources, Roach said.

But because of the potent nature of farm wastes, "It's a potential major problem," he said.

"We're thankful they (farmers) are taking the precautions that they are,

because it could be a very serious thing," Roach said.

Cranberry relish with turkey

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Cranberries, of course, are a must with Thanksgiving turkey. But this year instead of serving plain cranberry sauce or jelly you might like to make a batch of Cranberry Relish. You can spice the relish to suit your own taste, adding the minimum or maximum amounts of ground cloves, cinnamon and allspice given in the following recipe. Because you'll have a goodly amount of the relish you can store what isn't used for Thanksgiving to serve at Christmas time and to give as gifts.

CRANBERRY RELISH
2 pounds fully ripe fresh cranberries
3 1/2 cups water
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1/4 to 1 teaspoon ground cloves
1/4 to 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 to 1 teaspoon ground allspice
5 1/2 cups (2 pounds and 6 ounces) sugar

1/2 of a 6-fluid-ounce bottle liquid fruit pectin

Into a large saucepan turn the cranberries, water and vinegar. Bring to a boil; simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Stir in the cloves, cinnamon and allspice. Measure 7 1/2 cups of this fruit mixture into a very large (5 to 6 quart) saucepot.

Add the sugar and stir thoroughly to mix well. Place over high heat; bring to a full rolling boil and, stirring constantly, boil hard for 1 minute. Remove from heat and at once stir in pectin. With a metal spoon, skim off foam; stir and skim for 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit.

Ladle quickly into clean, hot, wide-mouth, 1/2-pint fruit jars leaving 1/8 to 1/4 inch head room; place dome lids on jars; screw bands tight. Makes about 9 1/2 cups. If using jelly glasses, cover hot relish with 1/8 inch of hot paraffin — makes 12 six fluid ounce glasses.

Grades to Grads

Mrs. Robert Warnock called the meeting of the Grades to Grads Child Conservation League to order when guest speaker, Kevin Cook of Ellen's Green Thumb spoke on "Decorations with Imagination." He told how decorations could be made attractively, on a limited budget and energy basis.

The philanthropic project of the group will be to make cookies for the Fayette Progressive School, and to provide white elephant items for the 'Community Outreach Program' for the elderly.

Plans for a Christmas party were made for Dec. 11 at 6:30 p.m. in the Jeffersonville Lions Club room.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Warnock and Mrs. Lee Marshall.

TURKEY TIPS

Many of you will be tempted to stuff that turkey ahead so you won't have to fool with it Thanksgiving morning — DON'T. The dressing does not become completely chilled through when it is refrigerated still inside the turkey cavity, thus you have a danger of spoilage. Do not combine the liquid and dry ingredients of the dressing and stuff the turkey cavity until you are ready to roast the bird.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture also warns strongly against roasting your turkey in the oven all night at a low temperature. This practice allows the bird to remain at a dangerous temperature for too many hours. Bacteria grow rapidly between 40 degrees - 120 degrees F. Keep your family safe. Allow time in the morning to cook your turkey at the regular temperature.

Test for doneness - Meat is done when the temperature of the meat thermometer reaches 180 to 185 degrees. Also check the stuffing temperature, this should be at least 165 degrees. A second way to test for doneness is to press the fleshy part of the drumstick with protected fingers. When done the meat will feel soft, the drumstick will move easily, and the leg joint will give readily.

Research shows that the best roasting temperature for poultry is 325 degrees. The following table gives approximate roasting times needed for thawed stuffed birds: Six to 8 pounds, 3 to 3 1/2 hours; 8 to 12 lbs., 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 hours; 12 to 16 lbs., 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 hours; 16 to 20 lbs., 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 hours; and 20 to 24 lbs., 6 1/2 to 7 hours.

Plan your schedule so that the turkey is out of the oven 20 to 30 minutes before serving. It's much easier to carve.

Do not leave stuffing inside the turkey. Bacteria, which causes food spoilage, "loves" warm cozy places. Immediately after the feast, put the turkey, gravy, dressing, etc. in shallow containers and refrigerate. Freeze immediately in one-meal portions the turkey you will not use within 3 days. FEELING BORED BEING STUCK AT HOME WITH THE KIDS?

Thursday, November 29, we've arranged a meeting so that mothers with young children can attend. Mrs. Arthur Schlichter will be teaching the group how to do "Macrame", at Grace United Methodist Church from 1:00 to 3:30 p.m. Child care will be available.

To register for this and the three following meetings call the Extension Office at 335-1150. On January 31, Decorating On A Budget will be taught by Mrs. Judy Ledbetter, an Interior Designer. Home Beautification with Flowers and Shrubs will be taught by Jim Caldwell, O.S.U. Extension Floriculture Specialist on April 4. The last session of the year on May 30 will feature a demonstration on Lightning Meals by Beulah Hill, Area Home Economics Agent and myself. The $2.00 registration fee for the series includes babysitting.

Ways to save fuel and save money on your heating bill

These suggestions can help you keep warm and comfortable with less heating cost. And they will stretch available fuel supplies to lessen the chance of fuel shortages affecting you and your neighbors.

DP&L

The Service People

Use the lowest thermostat setting at which you are comfortable. (Every degree higher adds 3% to your heating bill.) Set thermostat lower at night.

Insulate your attic and sidewalls. You can save as much as 30% on your heating bill with adequate insulation.

Weather strip around loose-fitting doors and windows. Caulk outside cracks. Storm doors and windows help keep cold out. Clear plastic sheeting stapled to window frames can be used for the same purpose.

Close off unused rooms. Keep doors closed to attached garage and other unheated areas.

Open drapes and blinds to let the sun help warm your home. If there's no sun, close the drapes against the cold. Close drapes at night for the same reason.

Entering or leaving, close outside doors promptly.

Don't block registers, radiators or cold air returns with rugs, furniture or drapes.

Use kitchen and bath exhaust fans only when necessary.

Don't waste hot water. Insulate hot water lines. Fix leaky hot water faucets.

Check furnace filters every 6 weeks. Clean or replace filters if they are dirty. Be sure your furnace is in good repair. Check belt. Oil bearings. Burners should be cleaned and adjusted from time to time by a reliable heating service man.

Close your fireplace damper when the fire is out, or you lose warm air up the chimney.

Blue Lion cagers open Wednesday

Tall, talented and fast mark 73-74 WCH Lions

By DENNIS STAPLETON
Record-Herald Sports Editor

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion cagers, under the direction of Gary Shaffer for the sixth season, bounce into the 1973-74 campaign against talented Portsmouth at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the WSHS gym.

Shaffer's Lions, picked as co-favorites for the South Central Ohio League crown, have one of the quickest and largest teams seen in the Washington C.H. area in years.

HEADED BACK from last year's team, which posted a 10-9 overall record, are four lettermen with two being full-timers a year ago.

Pivotman Jeff Wallace, who stands 6-foot-5, averaged over 10 points last year, and Kenny Knisley, a 6-foot-3 forward, are the starting duo from last season. Bill Shaw and Alan Coppock are the other two letterman returning.

The Lions hold a 15-man roster put together by nine seniors, four juniors and two sophomores.

With a much-improved Wallace returning to anchor the middle and the forward spots being held down by Knisley, Doug Phillips or Mark Essman that leaves the hotly-contested guard positions to balance out the team.

Competition for the starting job at guard has been fast and furious.

Fighting for the backcourt places are speedster Mark Johnson, Jim Vess, Mark Shaw, Jerry Knisley, slick ball handling Craig Shaffer, brother of head coach Gary Shaffer, and sharp-shooting Chuck Byrd. Jerry Knisley, Byrd and Shaffer hold the upper hand in the first string jobs for the opener Wednesday.

Coach Shaffer pointed out that this year's team is the best looking all around squad he has had since starting here in 1968.

The ability to block the opposition off the boards may be the key to the Blue

Lions success to a fast running offense. Getting the rebound pass out to the point man is essential to any team that has the speed to utilize a fast break.

Also aiding to the Lions' cause is the amount of depth on the bench. Coach Shaffer will have plenty of height and speed resting on the side in case they are needed.

Senior Garth Cox, 6-foot-5, and Doug Boswell, 6-foot-3, lead the list of subs on

Falcons defeat Minnesota, 20-14

ATLANTA (AP) — Bob Lee, the field general of an inspired Atlanta offense, fired two second-period touchdown passes Monday night and the Falcons knocked the Minnesota Vikings from the unbeaten ranks of the National Football League with a 20-14 victory in their nationally televised game.

Ignited by a crowd of 56,519 who roared almost constantly the entire game, the Falcons rolled to their sixth consecutive victory. It left them only one game behind the Los Angeles Rams in the National Conference West Division race with a 7-3 record.

The defeat was the first after nine straight victories for the Vikings, who clinched the NFC Central Division crown a week ago, their fifth in the last six years.

Lee, who connected on 10 of 18 passes for 171 yards in the first half, teamed with Dave Hampton on a 19-yard screen pass for Atlanta's first touchdown and then scrambled away from a fierce Viking rush to find Eddie Ray alone near the goal line for a 39-yard scoring strike later in the second period.

However, the Falcons had to withstand a late charge by Fran Tarkenton, Minnesota's scrambling quarterback who once was benched by Atlanta Coach Norm Van Brocklin when both were with the Vikings during the 1960s.

Tarkenton, who threw a 39-yard scoring pass to John Gilliam in the second quarter, drove the Vikings 49 yards in 11 plays and pitched a two-yard touchdown strike to Bill Brown with 6:29 left in the game to cut Atlanta's lead to 20-14.

With less than two minutes remaining, shortly after Atlanta had ground out a first down, Lee fumbled and Jim Marshall scooped up the ball and raced 18 yards where he fumbled, but Alan Page recovered for the Vikings. The Vikings took a 15-yard penalty on the play for tripping, but had possession at the Falcons 48.

The Buckeyes tuned up for Saturday's Big Ten showdown with No. 4 Michigan by trouncing Iowa 55-13. That earned them 34 first-place votes and 1,142 points from the panel of 62 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in this week's poll.

Runner-up Alabama prepared for its Southeastern Conference shootout with No. 7 Louisiana State on Thanksgiving by whipping Miami of Florida 43-13. The Crimson Tide received 16 first-place ballots and 1,082 points. Last week's margin was 1,130-1,068.

Pfeifer coaching candidate

Three Lion stars eye South all-star spots

Three members of Washington C.H.'s historic football team have been selected by head coaches from Region 14 of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association as candidates for the 29th annual Ohio High School North-South all-star football game which will be played in Canton's Fawcett Stadium in August.

Chuck Wilson, Garth Cox and John Sanderson were three of eight players selected to represent Region 14 in a pool of 64 gridders from eight regions in southern Ohio which will form this year's 33-man South all-star team.

Washington C.H. head coach Maurice Pfeifer, who guided the Blue Lions to their winningest season ever, was selected as one of the candidates for the South coaching staff. Pfeifer, who just completed his ninth season as the Blue Lion mentor, said the only way he will represent the South team is as head coach since he served as an assistant coach two summers ago. The coaching staff will be picked Dec. 7 and if Pfeifer is named an assistant, he will resign the selection and Tuffy Thompson, head coach at Dayton Park Hills, will fill the vacancy.

and two defensive specialists. Each head coach can nominate as many players as he feels deserves the honor as long as the nominating coach is a member of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association.

Washington C.H.'s Blue Lions have fared quite well in selections for the North-South game in recent years as both Steve Ross and Jim Heath were named to play in the game two years ago and Mike Domenico participated in last summer's classic.

Wilson, a 6-foot-1, 185-pounder, was named to his second straight All-South Central Ohio League berth this season. The senior tailback was the league's leading scorer with 184 points and rushed for 1,537 yards on 237 carries.

Cox and Sanderson, a pair of titanic linemen, were both unanimous All-SCOL picks. Cox, a 6-foot-5, 230-pound senior, was the honorary captain of the all-league offensive team, and Sanderson, a 6-foot-4, 275-pound senior, was named the SCOL's honorary defensive captain.

Selected along with the three Blue Lion stars were Dave Adkins, 6-2, 195, Xenia; Rick Grissom, 5-10, 175, Dayton Park Hills; Tom Replogle, 6-1, 205, Xenia; Beaver Creek; Dave Pickerill, 6-2, 215, Dayton Park Hills, and Dave McGlothlen, 6-2, 250, Xenia. Pickerill and McGlothlen were the Region 14 defensive specialists.

Tough schedule ahead of No. 1 UCLA Bruins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who's afraid of the big, bad Wolf-pack? Not UCLA.

The Bruins will meet rugged North Carolina State this year, not to mention a couple of other national powers, in one of the toughest basketball schedules in their recent history.

But the defending national champions are probably better than last year, too — so that makes it twice as hard on the pretenders to their throne.

"I'm glad it was arranged," says North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan, talking about the blockbuster game with mighty UCLA on Dec. 15 in St. Louis.

It's the Game of the Year, all right, and could provide an early look at the finalists in the NCAA playoffs this season.

To most observers, UCLA and North Carolina State are the 1-2 teams in the country.

The Bruins should build on their glossy, 75-game winning streak this season with the return of Bill Walton, Keith Wilkes and Greg Lee and the addition of Richard Washington, a 7-foot freshman phenom. There's another seven-footer in the imposing UCLA cast — sophomore Ralph Drollinger.

They'll hope to add to UCLA's cache of NCAA titles — seven in a row and nine in the last ten years.

Facing the Bruins, along with North Carolina State, will be Maryland, San Francisco and Notre Dame. And while the Wolfpack will probably be the toughest test for UCLA with David Thompson and Tom Burleson, the others are no easy marks.

Maryland, a tough colleague of North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference, is at its peak with the talents of Tom McMillen and Len Elmore.

San Francisco, last year's Western finalist against UCLA in the NCAA regional playoffs, is supposedly stronger this time. Returning to the team are the two stars from last year — Kevin Restani and Phil Smith. The Dons are favored to repeat as champions of the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Notre Dame, led by John Shumate, one of the toughest centers in the country, will have two shots at UCLA this season — home and away. The Fighting Irish, with an ironman crew of five players, crystallized into one of the best teams in the nation during the second half last year.

UCLA doesn't expect the Pacific-8 Conference to be any fun, either. Zeroing in on their eighth straight Pac-8 title, the Bruins face heavy artillery from the northern and southern fronts.

"I think this year will be the toughest the Pac-8 has ever been," says Coach Ralph Miller of Oregon State. "I mean from top to bottom."

Even UCLA Coach John Wooden sees improvement in his own conference.

That, of course, includes crosstown neighbor Southern California. The Trojans, who finished second to UCLA in the Pac-8 last year and wound up in the NIT, have retained their starting team.

Indiana, one of last year's four NCAA finalists along with UCLA, Memphis State and Providence, is the pick in the Big Ten Conference and one of the most powerful teams in the country.

Harper applauded

SPRINGFIELD — Lowell Harper, Wittenberg University's standout senior tight end from Washington Court House, played a leading role as the Tigers wrapped up their third unbeaten season in the last five years Saturday afternoon by beating Marietta College 35-7 for the Ohio Conference championship.

Harper set up Wittenberg's go-ahead touchdown by taking a 63 yard pass from Tiger quarterback Lloyd Ball and running to Marietta's three-yard line. Wittenberg scored two plays later.

The Tigers ended their regular season with a 10-0 record and a ranking as the nation's 6th best small college football team.

The victory made the Tigers eligible for a try at their second national championship in five years.

Wittenberg's offense was fourth best in the nation averaging 33 points a game, while the defense ranked 5th after giving up an average of only eight points a game.

METICULOUS CRAFTSMAN — The postage stamp quilt on the bed, now in Colonial Paint Store window, has 4,851 pieces. The beginnings of a new quilt in his hands is an attempt at seeing "just how small I could make the squares," Albert Summers says. They measure 1½ x 1¼ inches.

At 84, he has 'secret of youth'

BY MARK THELLMANN

It's too bad Ponce de Leon, in his search for a fountain of youth, didn't have the opportunity to talk with 84-year-old Albert Summers, the quilt maker.

For those who have passed the Colonial Paint Store and marveled at the postage stamp and ribbon quilts on display in the window, Summers is their creator.

"I have been making quilts and sewing for as long as I can remember,"

Summers said grinning. "I was next to the youngest in a family of 11 and was brought up mainly by my mother and older sisters who loved to piece quilts and sew during the wintertime, when the nights were cold and there was nothing else to do."

That love of creating embraced Summers also, along with raising flowers, canning and baking, which his mother and sister also taught him.

SUMMERS, who lives at 518 Gibbs

Ave., continued about his early life: "When I was 16, I had to quit school and become the family bread winner because my father took sick. At 18, I began working for the railroad for $1.25 a day which I turned over to the family."

Summers smiled and added, "We didn't need money back then to have a good time; we just got together and did!"

SUMMERS told of an old saying which went "no fool, no fun," and admitted he volunteered to play the fool on many an occasion. "That's when times were the most fun for me," he confessed.

In 1938, Summers moved from his birthplace in Ross County to Fayette County where he raised three boys and two girls of his own.

Attention was drawn to his quilt making talents when he attended a dinner for the elderly held at the First Presbyterian Church as part of the Community Action program directed by Mrs. George Naylor.

The program gives the elderly an opportunity to get together and play games, share each other's crafts, hobbies and talents, eat a nutritious meal and, usually, hear a speaker.

"They just wouldn't leave me alone until I brought in my quilts to show," Summers said, chuckling.

He is now faced with a problem because people want to buy his quilts. "I have never sold one in my life!" he exclaimed. "I have given many away to my friends, but I have no idea what to charge or how much they are worth."

SUMMERS, who will be 85 in April, attributes his longevity, sparkling eyes, pleasant disposition and ceaseless energy to the "goodness of God."

When asked if he considered himself a religious man, he replied, "I try my best every day of my life. My early upbringing centered around the church and this has stuck with me. Mother always made sure we got to church every Sunday."

On the subject of drinking, smoking and women, Summers related an experience which left a life-long impression on him.

"I was taught to read in the old McGuffey Reader and I can still remember a lesson which warned, 'beware the first drink.' I did."

Summers also stated he never was attracted to cigarettes. As for women, he smiled and said, "only in moderation; not too much."

Summers' philosophy is the fountain of youth Ponce de Leon never found.

Hospital budget approved

The 1974 budget for the operation of Fayette Memorial Hospital was approved Monday night the regular meeting of the hospital board.

Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, said the budget was set at $1,946,000. Kunz disclosed the new budget reflects an approximate 9 per cent increase over the projected 1973 operational figures. The budget includes capital expenditures of $40,000.

The board also approved the purchase and installation of a new switchboard system for the hospital's front office. Kunz said the new switchboard system will provide broader administrative telephone lines for the hospital staff and at the same time provide the same patient service.

The monthly statistical report, prepared by Kunz, showed 334 admissions, 337 discharges, 2,171 inpatient days, 36 births, 128 new born patient days, 80.49 per cent occupancy, 92.78 per cent of medical and surgical occupancy, 6.44 days average length of stay, 7.47 days average length of medical and surgical length of stay, 920 X-rays, 4,863 laboratory reports, 1,032 emergency room visits, 212 physical therapy treatments, 466 inhalation therapy treatments, 61 major operations and 75 minor operations.

Kiwanians hear minister

This is a year to be thankful despite the "political disunity and social conflict all around us," the Rev. Wilbur Bullock, pastor of McNair Presbyterian Church, told Kiwanians at their dinner meeting Monday in Lafayette Inn.

The Rev. Mr. Bullock raised such questions as "How long can society endure this?" "Are our hearts so numb toward the feelings of others that we have no feelings for ourselves?" "Will our land of plenty become a wasteland because of our mistakes?" and "How much longer can American democracy endure?"

The Rev. Mr. Bullock emphasized that "the American people have taken too much for granted" and that "we live in the greatest nation on earth, one that guarantees us personal freedom and a democratic way of life. If we are to continue to live in this manner, we must once again put our trust and love in God and in each other, just as did our forefathers who built this nation. We must perpetuate what they gave us."

Louis Kuhlwein arranged the program, and President George Gibbs conducted the meeting at which Roger Kirkpatrick was presented a two-year attendance pin by Richard Maddux.

Eight members signified their intentions of attending the interclub meeting Nov. 27 at Grove City.

Guests were Dave Ellen and Kenneth Hughes with Norman Armbrust and the Rev. Harold Shank, pastor of the Good Shepherd Church, with Robert Angus. Key Club members at Circleville, John Dowler and Larry Scheeber also were guests.

Check cases await grand jury action

Two Washington C.H. persons, charged by city police on a total of 10 counts of forgery, waived preliminary hearing in Washington C.H. Municipal Court Monday afternoon and were bound over to the Fayette County grand jury.

Merle Jones Jr., 18, Rt. 1, Washington C.H., and Dorothy Detty, 19, of Circleville, entered not guilty pleas in Municipal Court Monday before Judge Reed M. Winegardner. Jones is charged by city police with nine counts of forgery and was bound over under $5,000 bond. Miss Detty, charged with one count of forgery, was bound to the grand jury under $100 bond.

Jones and Miss Detty were arrested Saturday by Police Specialist Larry Walker on charges of forgery after they had allegedly passed a number of forged checks at several Washington C.H. business places. Walker then lodged eight other counts of forgery against Jones before the arraignment hearing Monday.

Pheasant hunters draw court fines

Four persons were fined in Municipal Court Monday by Judge Reed M. Winegardner for possessing or taking hen pheasants. Hunting or possessing the female bird is illegal even during the pheasant season.

Raymond Byrd, Kenneth Sherman, Frank Petri, and Thomas Glancy, all of Cincinnati, were fined $30 each for possessing the birds. Glancy was fined an additional $30 for taking or hunting hen pheasants.

Daniel G. Stapleton, 69, Dayton, was fined $50 for intoxication.

Ferguson set to retire?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Plain Dealer said today State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, 81, is expected to announce his retirement plans Dec. 14 at a testimonial dinner and campaign fund raising event at the state fairgrounds in Columbus.

Quoting unidentified "political sources," the Plain Dealer said Ferguson plans to retire from politics at the end of his term next year and will throw his support to his son, Thomas E., 45, to succeed him.

The younger Ferguson was appointed a $22,000-a-year deputy auditor by his father last July.

Joseph Ferguson was first elected state auditor in 1937 and was re-elected several times before switching to state treasurer. He stepped aside in 1962, boosting his son to succeed him as treasurer.

However, the younger Ferguson lost that race and also lost a bid for state auditor in 1966.

Money Does Matter . . . By David G. Looker

"SAVE FOR SOMETHING" IS THE POSITIVE, PRACTICAL WAY!

Are you teaching your child to "save" because it is a good thing to do? If so, take another look at what you are doing.

The most successful approach to almost any course of action is the positive one.

So it is with saving money especially when establishing the habit with young children.

Start early to plant the thought in the young mind that saving money for something is a practical approach to getting what one needs and desires.

Too often children (be they young or adult) adopt the concept that money is only something to exchange for what one wants now.

More often there is greater satisfaction to be realized in deferring spending now for the time in the future when saving will permit getting that we'd much rather have.

Fog, bent sign blamed in crash on rural roadway

Heavy early morning fog and a bent stop sign were causative factors behind an accident at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday.

John H. Hagler, 21, of Bloomingburg, crashed a stop sign which had been bent parallel to Inskip Road at the Parrott Station Road intersection, investigating officers report.

He traveled through the intersection, off the road, and hit a telephone terminal and a fence owned by Richard H. Davidson, of Rt. 4, the Sheriff's Department said.

Moderate damage was done to the car, the fence and the telephone terminal, according to the report.

An 18 year-old Washington C.H. man backed into a B & O utility pole on Jasper Lane Monday. John Thomas George of 324½ Broadway did slight damage to his in the mishap, according to sheriff's deputies.

Failure to negotiate a left curve sent a Washington C.H. woman off the right side of U. S. 35-S and into a mailbox at 10:45 a.m., Monday.

Betty Ann Estep, 46, of 902 Pearl St. steered her car back into the highway but then went off the left side, hitting two trees. The Sheriff's Department reported moderate damage to the car but no injury.

AN ANGUS CALF was killed by a car heading south on Good Hope-New Holland Road at 7:35 p.m., Monday.

The calf had run out of a ditch in front of a car driven by Alex Geesling, 66, of Rt. 6.

Moderate damage was done to Geesling's car. The calf was owned by Ann Clifton of 331 E. Market St., officers said.

An unidentified vehicle, which sheriff's deputies are still seeking south on Whiteoak Road, went off the right side, of White Oak Road, then through a fence owned by Catherine Jean Brown, of Bloomingburg, and Mildred Louise Hinkleman of 805 Duke Plaza, according to a report made to officers.

The vehicle then drove three-tenths of a mile in wheat field before crashing out through the fence once again. Moderate damage was done to the fence and property.

Hearings slated in vandal spree

Two Washington C.H. youths charged with participation in a $2,000 vandalism spree Saturday night and early Sunday, have made their first appearance in court in connection with the incident.

Steven E. Beverly, 18, of 510 S. North St., appeared with his attorney, John C. Bryan, in Municipal Court Monday for arraignment. He pleaded not guilty, and Judge LReed M. Winegardner set Nov. 29, as the date for preliminary hearing.

A 17-year-old boy, who allegedly took part in the night of destruction, appeared before Judge Rollo Marchant in Juvenile Court for a detention hearing. He has been released to his parents, and no date has yet been set for hearing the case.

Beverly and the juvenile were arrested about 3:45 a.m. Sunday after police received more than 15 reports of malicious destruction of property. One of the charges against Beverly is the destruction of a public traffic light facility, a felony. Other reports ranged from the taking of automobile antennas to broken windows. The perpetrators spanned at least seven different streets on the south side of the city.

Harvest season theme at weekly prayer session

The South Side Church of Christ was decorated appropriately with a harvest season theme when 112 students and teachers gathered there Tuesday for the weekly prayer breakfast.

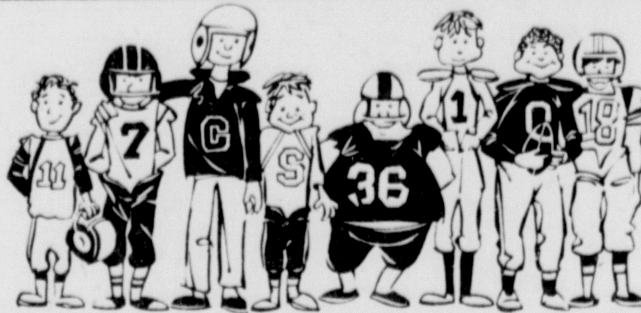

A candlelight Thanksgiving service was led by the pastor, the Rev. Charles J. Richmond, and Kevin Blair, a WSHS junior, led the singing, accompanied by Sue Moore, a WSHS sophomore. The invocation was given by Jeff Smithson, a MTHS junior.

After breakfast of ham, eggs, blueberry muffins and milk, Darla Krupla, a MTHS junior, spoke of "Gratitude." She told the story of the 10 lepers cleansed by Christ, only one of whom returned to say "thank you" and urged the group to be like that one. Sue Conner, a MTHS senior, offered the closing prayer.

Sunday driving curtailment under study

Blue laws possible next move

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration officials say a curtailment of Sunday driving is being considered as one way to conserve fuel.

White House energy adviser John A. Love said Monday the administration may soon require the closing of gasoline stations on Sundays.

His deputy, Charles DiBona, told a congressional joint economic committee that a ban on Sunday driving and closing of public parks to automobiles are steps under consideration.

"Knocking out Sunday driving is a real possibility," said DiBona, the President's special assistant for fuel matters.

Asked about a ban on nonessential Sunday driving, Love said, "I don't think it is to be couched in terms of a ban" and then added that there may be an announcement on "the closing of filling stations on Sunday across the nation."

DiBona said a Sunday driving ban would save 660,000 barrels of gasoline a day. Some consideration is being given to making the ban partial so people could go to church, he said.

The administration is also considering instituting Sunday blue laws to close commercial stores and shortening store hours during the week, he said.

Meanwhile, the Senate passed and sent to the House emergency energy legislation that would give President Nixon the power to order gasoline rationing.

And the House Democratic leadership responded to Nixon's criticism of Congress' performance in the energy crisis by accusing the President of "unwillingness to acknowledge the magnitude of the crisis and ... lack of any direction in dealing with it."

In other energy-related developments Monday:

—Germany and Denmark joined Holland and Belgium in banning Sunday pleasure driving because of the Arab oil squeeze on Europe.

—The Pentagon announced that 27 senior defense officials have given up their big sedans for smaller, more economical cars as a means of saving fuel. A spokesman said Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger is considering whether to keep his Cadillac limousine.

—Postmaster Gen. E.T. Klassen said fuel shortages may hamper mail handling during the Christmas season and beyond. He said service could suffer in December because of the elimination of 300 scheduled airplane flights per day as a fuel-saving measure.

—The Environmental Defense Fund said intercity bus lines should be exempted from 50 mile per hour speed limits. The environmental organization said intercity buses are more than twice as efficient as automobiles in energy use per passenger mile.

Thanksgiving travelers may find more service stations closed this year than they did last year, but supplies of gasoline seem to be holding up well, an American Automobile Association spokesman said today.

Kay Aldous said spot checks by the nationwide organization showed no major gasoline shortages, although he said he had received reports that isolated service stations were limiting sales.

"The thing that should be emphasized is that there will be no major inconveniences for holiday travel," he said. "There are no problems of fuel at this time although, over the holidays, it is likely that a number of stations will be operating on schedules similar to what they've been doing on Sunday since Labor Day."

Aldous based his prediction about more Thanksgiving closings on "a pattern that we've watched for 13 weeks."

Ohio Air Force bases cut energy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio's two largest Air Force bases have joined other government agencies in the drive to save energy.

Officials at both Lockbourne Air Force Base at Columbus and Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton have been making big and small decisions designed to curb the use of fuel and electricity.

Some workers at Lockbourne, for instance, may have to walk a little farther for their coffee breaks. After officials surveyed office coffee pots, they told the coffee drinkers to double up. So, for example, an office building floor will have only one pot perking instead of five.

At Wright-Patterson, airmen are choosing soft drinks from unlighted vending machines. Base Commander Brig. Gen. Irby Jarvis Jr. ordered the lights turned out because there are over 700 machines on the base and lighting them burns a lot of electricity.

Lockbourne officials have begun banning space heaters. Lt. Mike McDonald said the small heaters had been used to warm secretaries' legs.

He said base civil engineers at the Columbus base are now using taxis and small cars instead of the traditional trucks whenever possible.

Thermostats at both bases have been set down into the middle sixties, while some storage buildings are kept in the chilly 40s.

McDonald said officials at Lockbourne are studying the effects of limiting building access to one door instead of having four or five opening and closing all day.

At Wright-Patterson, Gen. Jarvis said the base is ahead of the game because it tried to beat the Pentagon's goal in energy conservation.

He said the Defense Department wanted to cut utility usage by 7 per cent this fiscal year. "We set our goal at a 10 per cent reduction. We had already done our planning. Now we just have to tighten our belts a little more," Jarvis said.

The banning of Christmas lighting displays and other excess lights plus the organization of car pools are also part of the Air Force's energy conservation plans.

Jarvis added that some flights have been cut, but that all necessary flights are made and fuel is available for planes.

Governors push Nixon for answers

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Republican governors are urging President Nixon to clear up the Watergate problem in a statement that praises what they called his determination to make a full disclosure.

The governors, debating the impact of Watergate on their own fortunes, approved a carefully worded message to Nixon in anticipation of his scheduled visit today.

The resolution, billed as a strong endorsement of the President, was adopted Monday by the Republican Governors Association. It praised Nixon's accomplishments, listing among them his handling of a range of problems from the Middle East to the energy crisis.

But sources who attended the closed meeting said the last paragraph was strengthened to let Nixon know as politely as possible that the governors hope the President will continue his new tack of disclosure until Watergate is resolved. It said:

"We applaud the determination of the President to make full disclosure to the public concerning Watergate, and we look forward to his visit to this conference ... as a part of that effort."

Virginia Gov. Linwood Holton, association chairman, said the reference to Nixon's "determination ... to make full disclosure" was added at the insistence of Govs. Daniel J. Evans of Washington and Tom McCall of Oregon.

Aronoff seeks No. 2 post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, announced today he will seek the GOP nomination for lieutenant governor in 1974.

Aronoff said he will wage a campaign that will meet Watergate "head on" because, he said, "1974 will be a year in which all candidates, Democrats and Republicans alike, will be viewed by the public through microscopes sharpened by Watergate-colored lenses."

Panel approves Ford nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules committee today voted unanimously to approve the nomination of House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford as vice president.

The vote sends Ford's nomination to the Senate floor.

House leaders plan a final vote in that body next week.

Although no hitch has risen to confirmation by either the House or

Senate, Ford's civil rights voting record and leadership capacity were challenged Monday at House hearings.

Clarence Mitchell Jr., Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said three of Ford's votes "show that he has a restricted approach to civil rights."

Taking a position for or against Ford was against NAACP policy, Mitchell told the House Judiciary Committee. But he said he hoped congressmen, before confirming Ford, would satisfy themselves "that his posture as vice president would not be the same as it was as congressman."

Mitchell said he was confident that Ford would step in to prevent a black person from being refused entry, for example to a restaurant — but said Ford had fallen short on his civil rights voting record.

Mitchell turned over to the committee an analysis of 54 civil rights votes by Ford, 28 of which the NAACP considered in favor of civil rights and 26 of which it considered against.

He said the three votes showing Ford's "restrictive approach" were on the Voting Rights Act of 1965, the Fair Housing Act of 1968 and an amendment involving the constitutionality of a House antibusing bill.

Although Ford's final votes were for both the voting rights and fair housing laws now on the books, his initial votes were for Nixon administration substitutes that Mitchell contended would make the two laws "largely ineffective at this time," Mitchell said.

Rep. Michael J. Harrington, D-Mass., said Congress should reject Ford's nomination because of "lack of a demonstrated capacity for leadership."

Acting as a stand-in for the nation's electorate, Congress should "examine all the talent presently available" and insist that President Nixon nominate someone with proven leadership ability, Harrington said.

He suggested New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and presidential adviser Melvin R. Laird as possibilities.

"Honesty and decency are not enough," Harrington said of Ford. "We also must look for proven qualities of leadership and an ability to serve as a focal point around which a country, a troubled country as I view it, can rally."

Space plumbing work successful

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A space plumbing job has increased chances the Skylab 3 astronauts will be able to complete a full 84-day orbital mission, space agency officials say.

"We're feeling pretty good about it," astronaut William R. Pogue said Monday after he replenished liquid that had leaked out of a refrigeration loop. The system keeps batteries and electronic equipment from burning out.

It became inoperable during the Skylab 2 mission in August and that crew switched to a backup loop. The secondary system also has a small leak and might also have given out within a few weeks.

Loss of both cooling loops would result in early termination of the mission, said flight director Neil Hutchinson.

Skylab 3 astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and Pogue carried a repair kit and extra cooling fluid when they rocketed up to the orbiting laboratory last Friday.

The fix-it job was to have taken two hours. But Pogue had trouble punching a hole in the coolant line and in checking for leaks in the repair lines. After four hours he finished up and reported, "It's on and it's looking clean."

Oklahoma twister kills five

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A major autumn storm packing heavy snow, subzero temperatures and thunderstorms whipped the mid-continent today after a tornado attack left five dead Monday.

The tornadoes triggered in Oklahoma by a clash of warm and frigid air left at least 30 injured. Authorities said three of the five dead were infants.

Funnel clouds touched down in north-central and northwestern Oklahoma and in northwestern Kansas, damaging property, uprooting trees, downing power lines and overturning mobile homes.

Subzero cold stung the northern border states; heavy thunderstorms washed over the Plains; and heavy snows accumulated in the mountains of the Southwest.

A foot of snow clogged mountain areas of New Mexico, and travel became hazardous in northern sections of the state.

Thunderstorms unleashed heavy rain on the central Plains. Oklahoma City was hit by nearly two inches of rain; and Emporia, Kan., and Grand Island, Neb., had well over an inch before dawn.

Snow also developed in the colder air to the west and northwest of the storm center. North Platte, Neb.; Goodland, Kan.; Denver; and Lamar, Colo., all had three inches of new snow before daybreak.

A foot of snow whitened the foothills southwest of Denver, and heavy snow warnings were issued for the Colorado mountains for tonight.

Temperatures dipped below zero in Montana and North Dakota and into the 20s as far south as western Kansas and northern New Mexico. A coldwave warning was posted for central and southwestern Oklahoma.

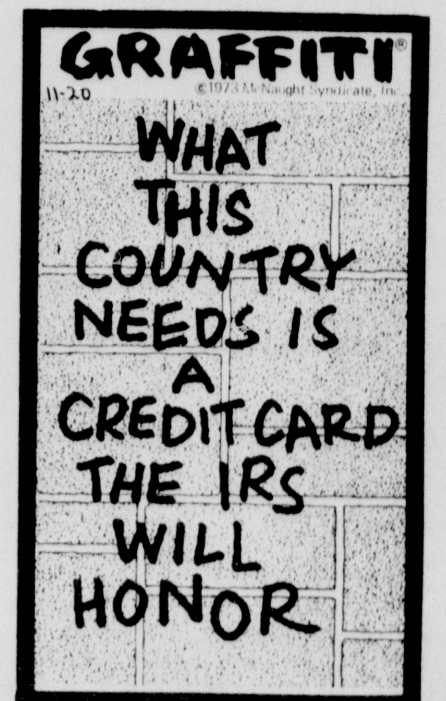

A large storm with rain and snow spread into the Pacific Northwest. Storm warnings were issued for the Washington and Oregon coasts, and gales were expected south as far as northwestern California.

Dense fog covered the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys and parts of the south Atlantic coastal region.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 6 at Havre, Mont., to 78 at Key West, Fla., and Kingsville and Corpus Christi, Tex.

Energy pinch hurts stock market

NEW YORK (AP) — Analysts say growing investor concern that an energy crisis might lead to a major recession in 1974 is the factor which is sending the stock market plunging.

Monday's drop of 28.67 points was the worst day for the Dow Jones average in 11 years.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, used widely as an indicator of general market trends, fell Monday to 862.66, the fifth largest daily drop in its history.

It was the blue chip indicator's biggest single-day loss since May 28, 1962, during a confrontation between the major steel companies and President John F. Kennedy. It dropped 34.94 points on that occasion.

The broader based New York Stock Exchange index of 1,500 common stocks fell 1.72 to 53.76, its steepest

single-day decline since its inception in July 1966.

Analysts said a further indicator of the broadness of the decline was that an extraordinary amount of New York Stock Exchange issues — 1,404 — lost ground, compared to only 198 making advances during the trading session.

"This energy crisis is very hard to quantify and investors are uncertain about it," said Alan Shaw of Harris, Upham & Co. "No one knows whether it means an all-out recession or worse."

Analysts said another factor in the major decline in the market was that the institutions — banks, insurance companies and mutual funds — which dominate it generally stood aside during the energy crisis uncertainties and did not trade.

"The institutions' normal reaction to this kind of market is to back off," said Monte Gordon of Dreyfus Corp. "That leaves only the selling pressure from individuals to drive the market down."

Analysts said that helping the decline Monday were indications from the Arab countries that their oil boycott to the United States may not end soon, and reports from Washington on proposals to ban Sunday sales of gasoline and limit the use of heating oil.

Analysts noted that economists have said that reductions in the amount of energy available in this country could have significant negative effects on the Gross National Product.

The Dow Jones blue chip indicator has fallen nearly 125 points since Oct. 26 in trading highlighted by volatile daily advances and declines. Analysts said it is a sign of the uncertainties the energy crisis has generated.

Eligibility bill on Saxbe job awaiting vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee is nearing a vote on a bill intended to remove a constitutional barrier to the appointment of Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, as attorney general.

The balloting was slated for the committee's closed meeting today. It also was considering action on legislation to provide for court appointment of a special Watergate prosecutor.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he hopes both matters can be disposed of, making unnecessary a meeting previously scheduled for Wednesday on the prosecutor bill.

Saxbe's nomination to succeed Elliot L. Richardson as attorney general has been held up because of a provision of the Constitution. The provision bars appointment of Congress members to offices for which the salary was increased during their elected terms.

Saxbe was a member of the Senate in 1969 when the salary of the attorney general and other Cabinet officers was increased from $35,000 a year to $60,000.

The administration has proposed legislation to roll back the attorney general's pay to $35,000 in an effort to overcome Saxbe's disqualification for appointment to the post.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert G. Dixon, Jr., told the Judiciary Committee Monday that passage of the bill would satisfy the intent of the ineligibility provision because Saxbe would not benefit from the 1969 salary increase.

This position was supported by a Duke University law professor, William Van Alstyne, but three other law school professors testified that legislation could not overcome the Constitutional prohibition.

Polite robbers

UPPER SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Two polite robbers took $285 from an Upper Sandusky grocery store Monday night, police said.

Officers said the two robbers ordered the woman clerk to fill a bag with money. They expressed their appreciation when she complied, police said.

No suspects have been arrested.

Return of Israeli POWs slow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A Red Cross plane that was supposed to bring Israeli POWs from Cairo to Tel Aviv landed as scheduled today but without the prisoners, the Israeli state radio said.

The plane was to have brought another 20 Israeli POWs home from Cairo as part of the six-point plan signed by Egypt and Israel to reinforce the U.N. cease-fire agreement that ended the October war.

The captain of the aircraft was quoted by the radio as saying the reasons for the empty plane were "technical," and after waiting at Cairo Airport for two hours he had been told by the Egyptian Red Cross to fly to Tel Aviv without his passengers.

A Red Cross official in Tel Aviv said

Tanks and troops still patrol Greece

ATHENS (AP) — Tanks and troops remained on patrol in Athens today as strongman President George Papadopoulos continued an apparent waiting game with youths and workers calling for his overthrow.

There was no indication when the tanks will be withdrawn, and no way to tell whether the demonstrators plan to go back on the streets when the army leaves. There were about 15,000 demonstrators active at the height of the disorders last week and during the weekend, which left 11 persons dead and at least 148 injured.

Monday was the first day of relative calm since the rioting. Soldiers and police picked up scores of youths, workers and local union leaders for allegedly violating the martial law restrictions.

Some were later set free. But others got stiff sentences from the military tribunals, including prison terms of four and five years for six construction workers convicted of assembling in a group of more than five.

Spyridon Zournatis, undersecretary to Premier Spyros Markezinis, said 204 persons have been detained since the Europe plans own document on relations with U. S.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — President Nixon's "Year of Europe" apparently will end with a declaration of Western Europe's own identity — drawn up by the Europeans themselves with no participation by the President.

The Nixon administration had hoped to publish a "new Atlantic Charter" this year, with contributions by itself and all the other members of the Atlantic community. But the administration's plans went astray as matters other than Europe took the White House's attention and conflicts with the Europeans arose over the document itself.

of Christ and the First Christian Church of Washington C.H. will hold a combined Thanksgiving Eve service at 7:30 p.m. in the Washington C.H. Church. Each of the pastors, the Rev. Conrad Bower, of the Jeffersonville church, the Rev. Victor Stutz, of the New Holland church, and the Rev. Don Baker, of the host church, will deliver brief sermons on the church, the country and the home. There also will be special music.

A special service, which will include a message by the pastor, the Rev. Eugene Griffith, music by the Children's Choir and a short film, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thanksgiving Eve in the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church.

The three churches of the New Holland United Methodist Church Charge — New Holland, Atlanta and Hebron — will hold a combined Thanksgiving Eve service at the New Holland Church. There will be special music and the pastor of all three churches, the Rev. Printis Spear, will deliver the message of Thanksgiving.

Congregations of the Bloomingburg and Madison Mills United Methodist Churches will meet in the Bloomingburg church at 9 a.m. Thanksgiving Day for a Holy Communion service conducted by the pastor of the two churches, the Rev. Frank Allen White.

Most of the churches in the community also will have special services Thanksgiving Eve.

MOST, but not all stores, will be closed all day Thursday in observance of the holiday. Offices in the City Hall and Courthouse will be closed for Thanksgiving Day; so will be the state and federal bureau offices. The Post Office will follow the usual curtailed holiday service of no mail deliveries in the city or on rural routes; the lobby will be open but the stamp windows will not.

Carnegie Public Library will be closed at 6 p.m. Wednesday and not reopen until Friday.

The city and Miami Trace District schools will have holidays both Thursday and Friday; classes will be resumed on schedule Monday.

The Record-Herald will not be published on Thanksgiving Day.

FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT officers and firemen, Thanksgiving Day will be just another day. Both Police Chief Rodman Scott and Sheriff Don Thompson said they are expecting the usual holiday traffic increase, starting Wednesday afternoon and continuing through Sunday, and have made preparations to try not only to keep it on the safe side, but also to encourage drivers to observe the fuel-conserving 50 mph speed limit recommended by the President.

In Washington, Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told a news conference a cutoff of U.S. farm product shipments to the Middle East in retaliation for the Arab oil embargo would simply irritate the situation without putting pressure on the Arabs.

He said U.S. grain exports to the Arab nations were not high enough to be significant, "and in view of the fact that the Russian nation has a much easier grain situation than a year ago they could very easily make up the deficit of anything we cut off."

The Defense Department, meanwhile, canceled the six-week-old military alert for the 6th Fleet. It cited a sufficient easing of tensions in the Middle East and a reduction in the Soviet fleet in the Mediterranean.

As Athenians looked back on the disorders, there was disagreement about who led them. Both youths and construction workers took part in the protests. The hardhats are considered by some Greeks to be a heavily leftist element although they are among the best paid workers in the country with salaries ranging up to $30 per day.

Pro-government newspapers said hard-core leftists financed from abroad were responsible for the occupation of the Athens Polytechnic Institute late last week by thousands of young demonstrators. The institute became a rallying point for the protesters until police and troops stormed in just after midnight Saturday to seize control.

There was also confusion about who the institute's occupiers were. The deputy dean — the dean has been arrested — said Monday that the majority of the occupiers were non-students. But reporters who visited the school during the occupation said the majority were students, although not all from the Polytechnic. There also were a number of persons well past university age, reporters said.

Change habits, Schultz urges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation will have to change the habits of an era in order to avert a recession while limiting energy use, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz says.

"I believe we should place top priority on jobs. We ought to try to insulate our industries from too great an impact," Shultz said of cutbacks which may be required by the energy crisis.

Speaking at a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Shultz said limits will have to be made in consumer use of energy.

The nation will have to get over the habits of an era of "easier use of energy," he said.

And in order to avert a recession, the action taken must be "sharp and relentless and tough," he said. "If we recognize the problem as a significant crisis, as it is, both in the short term and in the long term, and are willing to take tough decisions, I think we have the ability to manage the problem without undue disruption of our economy," Shultz said.

He said the nation needs to protect the aluminum and petrochemical industries, which use large amounts of energy, while "taking very sharp action" to curtail other uses through allocation powers.

Shultz said he hoped gasoline rationing will not be necessary.

"My instinct is against it," he said.

Shultz noted that he had been reading a summary of rationing problems during World War II, and mentioned the nationwide black market in gasoline, stolen coupons, counterfeit coupons and over applications by users.

The Office of Price Administration had to hire 5,000 to 6,000 investigators and there were 50,000 violations of which 25,000 were brought to trial, he said.

"Rationing sounds like an easy answer, but experience raises the question whether it is an answer at all," Shultz said.

city garage

UHRICHVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Fire early today destroyed the Uhrichville city garage, while firemen from Uhrichville and nearby Dennison battled the flames.

The garage and most of the tools and equipment stored inside were described as a total loss, although the city said it believed it could salvage a street sweeper stored in a newer, concrete block portion of the building.

A passing trucker spotted the fire and called the fire department at 4:42 a.m.

The garage, located on the city's west side, was a wood frame building that until 1967 was occupied by a lumber company. The garage was expanded last year and housed most of the city's service operations.

No cause or dollar estimate of damage was immediately available.

Impeachment backers launch petition drive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohioans to Impeach the President is launching a petition campaign to indicate support for impeachment of President Nixon, a spokesman for the group said Monday night.

About 15 persons attending a meeting of the group here were given petitions to circulate.

Dry weather during the day with showers likely later tonight is the prediction of the National Weather Service for Ohio. The expected showers are associated with a low pressure area situated over Oklahoma Tuesday morning, and moving northward.

Looking ahead into the last half of the week, no extreme weather is in sight. Any precipitation will likely be in the form of rain rather than snow, as temperatures average a little above normal.

Late Monday night temperatures over the state were in the upper 30s and lower 40s, under partly cloudy skies, with scattered patches of fog.

A chance of showers Thursday and again about Saturday. Highs Thursday through Saturday from the mid 40s to mid 50s. Lows in the upper 30s and 40s.

No motive in Cambodian palace attack

PHNOM PENH (AP) — The whereabouts and motives of the Cambodian air force pilot who bombed President Lon Nol's palace compound remained a mystery today.

The raid against the compound Monday killed three persons and wounded 10, witnesses said. It was the second such incident since March 17.

Military sources at Cambodian headquarters said the bombs were dropped by a T28 fighter returning from a mission 10 miles south of the capital.

The informants said the pilot, identified as Lt. Pich Lim Kuong, radioed during the mission that his bombs would not release. He broke away from his formation, heading for the palace as the other planes prepared to land, they added.

After dropping the last of four bombs, his plane flew low and then headed east, according to anti-aircraft gunners stationed around the palace.

Meanwhile, government troops on the capital's southern front recaptured Kompong Kantuot and gained control of all 13 miles of Rte. 38, the military command said.

The east-west road forms Phnom Penh's southern defense perimeter, and government troops have not had complete control over it since before the end of U.S. bombing Aug. 15.

In South Vietnam, Communist-led troops foraging for rice clashed with government infantrymen in the Mekong Delta province of Kien Tuong, the Saigon command said.

Ten North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed in the early morning action northeast of Tuyen Nhon district town, 35 miles southwest of Saigon, for the loss of two government soldiers killed and five wounded, a communique said.

Energy, financial problems confront city school board

Limited resources, both financial and natural, provided the outline for discussion in policy-making at the meeting of the Washington C. H. Board of Education Monday night.

The defeat of the proposed 2-mill increase in tax revenues at the polls and the national fuel crisis were discussed at length, and the need for trimming the system's expenditures overshadowed the desires and aspirations of board members.

Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor recently released to teachers in the system a set of guidelines for the conservation of heat (and therefore fuel) during school hours.

The guidelines are: (1) Thermostats in all buildings will be no higher than 70 degrees; (2) keep doors and windows closed; (3) reduce heating to lowest levels possible when buildings are occupied, but avoiding the risk of freezing water lines; (4) continue efforts to conserve electricity for lighting purposes, and (5) evening activities will be kept to a minimum.

Monday he explained to the board that the Gulf Oil Co., with whom the schools have a contract for heating oil, is tied by the governmental allotment program and cannot deliver any oil until February because there was no order by the city schools for oil until February last year. At present, the schools' three tanks (Belle Aire, Eastside and at Junior High) are approximately three-quarters full. Barring a period of extremely unseasonable temperatures careful use of existing supplies should avert any major difficulty. Gulf has promised 12,000 gallons of oil in February which should be adequate for the remaining cold months.

IN DISCUSSING the implications of the defeated additional school tax, the board reiterated its position that a hike in teachers' salaries must remain a top priority if quality education is to be maintained in the system. Therefore board members stressed limiting other expenditures to a minimum. Special committee meetings will be held to set secondary priorities.

Classroom visitation by other teachers within the system had been proposed to the board, but this program was deferred due to austerity considerations. While in theory the board feels that it would be worthwhile for teachers to visit outside classrooms to view the teaching methods of their fellow teachers, the cost of substitute teachers for the vacated class is not within the range of the current budget.

The board did approve a request that two deaf children living here be sent to the Alexander Graham Bell School in Columbus. The city school system will pay the tuition and traveling expenses for the children. The larger part of this money will be reimbursed by the state.

David Kearney, a student at Wilmington College who is now a student teacher of physical education in Washington C. H., will be offered the position as ninth grade basketball coach. The board approved a recommendation that he be offered the job. Kearney will graduate in December and be available as a substitute teacher as well as a coach.

JUNIOR HIGH Principal Ben Roby attended the meeting and reported that the mini-course program at Junior High has been well received, and is now entering its second group of course offerings. The special courses are held once a week for an hour and are dedicated to hobbies and other projects. Some of the courses being offered are bicycle repair, hunting, knitting, crewel embroidery and the making of Christmas decorations. The program helps to open new lines of communication between the students and teachers, administrators feel.

Board approval was given to a request by the Kiwanis Club for use of the Junior High auditorium April 19 for the Teen Talent Show. Before approval was granted, the board noted that due to the spring date, this should put no great strain on fuel supplies and that the proceeds are used for scholarships for graduating seniors from Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools.

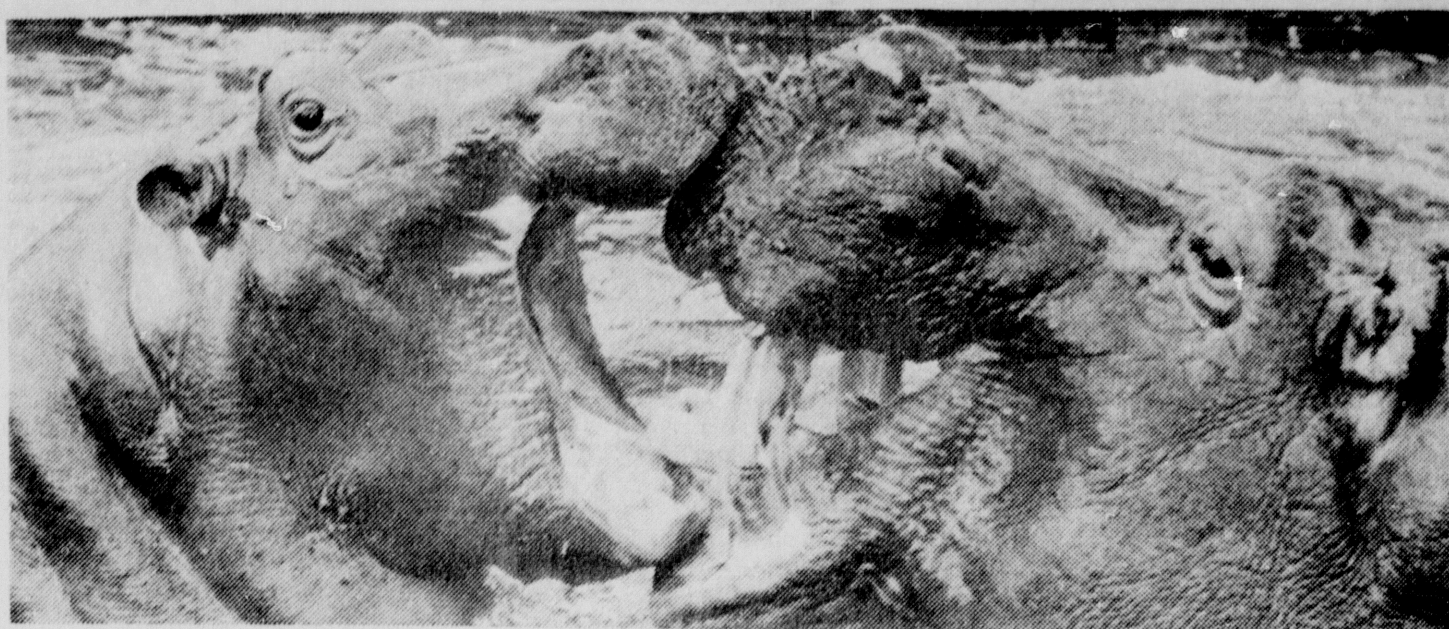

Bids on insurance for school buildings had been received recently by the superintendent and the board accepted the lowest of the three bids offered. Willis Insurance with whom the buildings have been insured in the past, was awarded the contract.

More candidates file statements

Two more candidates have filed campaign expense statements with the Fayette County Board of Elections.

Candidates have until Dec. 21 to file expense statements.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

How the energy crisis started?

WASHINGTON — Passing the knife between the Democrats in Congress and the White House for responsibility for the energy crisis is the newest piece of gamesmanship. Each side is accusing the other of neglect, indifference, drift.

Democratic senators close to the developing crisis with all it will mean to the average citizen see a scenario roughly as follows: President Nixon bent on his re-election to a second term was determined to avoid rocking the ship of state in any way. While they were not present and therefore do not have first-hand knowledge, these senators believe a crucial decision was made at a meeting in the White House in midsummer in 1971.

The President called in his principal advisers to lay down the law for 1972. The group included Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans and Attorney General John N. Mitchell, both now under indictment on charges growing out of secret cash contributions to the Nixon campaign fund. The President began the discussion with this preamble.

"In 1960 I was defeated by a narrow squeak. In 1968 I was elected by a narrow squeak. I don't want a squeak in 1972. I want an overwhelming mandate and that is why I have called you here."

He told them he wanted a campaign chest raised of not less than $50 million. As it turned out the total raised by Mitchell, Stans and Co. was closer to $60 million. That was thanks in part to what one business executive charged was the "extortion" practiced by Stans.

THE OIL COMPANIES contributed many millions to the total. So did the motor manufacturers. To have moved with any real force on the energy crisis that was already visible would have outraged these big contributors. For example, a horsepower tax penalizing the gas guzzlers would have angered not only the motor moguls but the President's many friends who drive the guzzlers.

The full consequences of the Middle East war could hardly have been foreseen by either the White House or the Congress. The warning signs should have been evident, however, in the fulmination of the Arabs over American policy towards Israel. Whether any thing could have been done even if the signs had been properly read is another matter. In any event, nothing was done.

Of the utmost urgency now is to find a way out of the energy crisis, not alone as it touches the American consumer but as the oil squeeze hits Western Europe and Japan. The rift in the NATO alliance is so serious growing out of the Middle East conflict and the oil pinch that some Western diplomats feel it is beyond repair.

They are concerned, too, with loose talk about what drastic action can be taken to restore the flow of Arab oil.

NATO ambassadors have heard at a middle level from American officials the possibility of American paratroop forces moving into the chief Arab oil suppliers.

This is, of course, fantasy. Such a contingency plan — contingency plans blossom in the Pentagon like the night blooming cereus — was considered in June by the joint chiefs of staff and rejected. Any such move would bring instant reprisals in sabotage blowing up pipelines and refineries.

WHETHER the worldwide alert was justified by the threat of Soviet intervention in the Middle East or whether it was another example of Nixon's overreaction will long be debated. But it was the way in which the alert was imposed without any prior notice to the European allies that spook their confidence.

They have not forgotten the President's unfortunate press conference statement when he seemed to be warning the Arabs that without a market their oil would be worthless. The market is in Western Europe and Japan and, without the oil, their industrial life would grind dangerously close to a halt.

In the same context the President made what appeared to the Arabs to be a threatening reference to what happened when in Iran Mohammed Mossadegh set out to nationalize Western oil properties and was overthrown. That was 20 years ago and when Iranian oil was a minor factor in world production.

In his energy message Nixon said increased production from the Navy's Elk Hills could be increased in 60 days to cut back shortages by 8 per cent. That would be a beginning if a small beginning in meeting a crisis such as has rarely if ever threatened peacetime America.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

Wednesday, Nov. 21

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Self-reliance should be your keyword now. Don't let others do your thinking for you. Neither let anyone sway you from pursuing planned objectives.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Your competition will be keen now, but the challenge should prove stimulating. A good chance to display your ingenuity and know-how.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

A day which you can mold much to your liking. Take a firm and knowing hand early and plan your schedule smartly. Make no snap decisions, however.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Day calls for your steadiest heart and hand. Don't try to swim against the tide and don't try to force issues.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

By interpreting situations arbitrarily, you may miss intended meanings. Do not hesitate to call in clever associates for more ideas. Day needs collaboration, teamwork.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Some requests may annoy, but think them over carefully. Compliance COULD prove profitable in the long run — and bring you satisfaction as well.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Creative interests stimulated. Your ideas are not only inspirational but highly feasible. Also favored: Romance and family concerns.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You may be concerned about the "whys and wherefores" of certain events. Insights ARE available, but you'll need the help and knowledge of a close associate to attain them.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A brand new financial start indicated — accompanied by high hopes, which CAN be realized. You MUST take the initiative, however — and confidently.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Follow up a potentially good tip you once brushed aside — but not impulsively or unprepared. For best results, you MUST have a definite plan.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You may be attracted to an individual who seems aloof, indifferent. Making a gesture of friendship could prove to be an important move in changing the situation.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Permit others to "be themselves." The Piscean rarely tries to dominate, but such inclinations prevail now. Be especially receptive to ideas from your mate or business associates.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great strength of purpose and the acumen needed to handle big enterprises; also, unlike many of your sign, the patience for tedious tasks. Scorpio is a Sign of resolution, determination and that "sixth sense" so valuable in handling emergencies. Once you curb your tendencies toward overaggressiveness, your innate vision and industriousness will help you to climb the steepest hills. You have a keen sense of the dramatic and could succeed in the theater — especially as an actor or playwright; have considerable inventive ability and gifts for music, dancing and writing.

Men complain today that women ape them in many things, but when it comes to the use of cosmetics, men seem to be aping women. Remember when a man ordinarily used only a soap and perhaps a dash of by rum or witch hazel after shaving? Well, a current 1973 trade catalogue lists more than 220 brands of men's colognes, after-shave tonics, facial cleansers, skin conditioners and—yes—wrinkle creams. His choice of scents includes "a lasting blend of citrus," "musk and spices," "mossy," and "exotic woodsy."

Double vote explained

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—No criminal action will be taken against a Salineville couple who admitted they voted twice in the Nov. 6 general election.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and the Columbiana County Board of Elections decided against action following a public hearing Monday.

Testimony disclosed that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lindesmith voted in Washington Township and then, realizing that they did not get to vote in the Salineville council races, went to Precinct A in the village and voted again.

Precinct workers testified the couple told them they had previously voted in the township but would try to have those ballots invalidated. The Lindesmiths said they were unaware at the time that once their votes were cast there was no way to have them invalidated.

Brown said precinct workers must be more observant to prevent double voting again.

Saxbe and Taft split on school busing bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Republican Sens. Robert Taft Jr. and William Saxbe cast opposite votes Monday as the Senate tabled, and thus killed, an amendment to the emergency energy bill to ban school busing for desegregation purposes.

Taft voted for tabling and Saxbe against.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Remarry and don't worry about the kids

DEAR ABBY: Do you think an 80-year-old man is foolish to consider remarriage? Some of my children do. I am a widower who has been alone for 12 years, during which time I have been in the company of some lovely eligible women. But I never have wanted to marry until I met My Fair Lady. She is 65 and has been a widow for 10 years.

We are both in reasonably good health, and we would like to spend the rest of our lives together, making each other happy. All our children are married. Some approve of our plans to marry; some do not.

I own my own home and have a little money. In view of the mixed feelings of our children, should we sneak off and get married by a preacher with just a few friends as witnesses? Or should we have a small church wedding, invite all the children, and let those who want to, come, and those who don't, stay home?

YOUNG AT HEART

DEAR YOUNG: Why sneak? Do whatever pleases you and your Fair Lady. The last thing you should worry about is what your children think.

DEAR ABBY: My girl friend and I are both 17. When Lydia does something to displease her parents, they make her stand in a corner.

A couple of times when I've come to take her out on a date, her father has said: "Lydia can leave in about 10 minutes after she's through standing in the corner." So I just sit and cool my heels while Lydia stands in the corner with her face to the wall.

I think this is a ridiculous way to punish a 17-year-old girl, but of course it's not my place to butt in.

Are you familiar with this stupid punishment? And if so, what's the reason for it? And what do you think of using it on a 17-year-old?

FEELING WEIRD IN MD.

DEAR WEIRD: Yes, I'm familiar with it. It's a very effective way to make a child settle down and reflect on the reason he's being punished. But to use it on a girl of dating age, in the presence of her date, I think is cruel and unusual punishment.

DEAR ABBY: Our church recently installed a set of "chimes"—a large tape player and four huge speakers, mounted on top of the church. The music is all hymns, played on an organ with loud bells. They play it at least once a day from 15 to 45 minutes, and sometimes it's played three times a day.

This can be heard all over town, and people who live four miles away from town say they are disturbed by it, too.

I live near the church, and this is pretty hard to take. It's impossible to carry on a conversation (in our house, mind you) and this music is too loud to be considered pretty.

I think church music belongs IN church. If teen-agers played their rock music this loud at a party, the police would break up the party and charge the kids with disturbing the peace.

This is a small town. My peace is disturbed. I am a taxpaying senior citizen who has asked the pastor of the church to please tone the music down. He did for a while. Now it's as loud as ever. Maybe if you print this, it will help.

SMALL TOWN

DEAR SMALL TOWN: I hope so. I nearly got a headache reading your letter.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HURT IN ESSEX JUNCTION, VT.: Heed the wise words of Noah Webster: "By taking revenge, a man is even with his enemy, but by passing it over, he is superior." Now is your opportunity to be superior.

The business was conducted by Mrs. Ed Fisher, president, and plans were completed for the Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets the group will prepare. Plans were also discussed for several projects involving patients in local nursing homes. Members plan to send birthday cards, make tray favors and visit the patients.

A report was given by Mrs. Fisher on the judging of Miss Snow Princess and Little Miss Snow Princess contests, which is being conducted by the group.

Members met Monday at the home of Mrs. William Stoughton to work on tray favors.

Cranberry relish with turkey

BY CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Cranberries, of course, are a must with Thanksgiving turkey. This year instead of serving plain cranberry sauce or jelly you might like to make a batch of Cranberry Relish. You can spice the relish to suit your own taste, adding the minimum or maximum amounts of ground cloves, cinnamon and allspice given in the following recipe. Because you'll have a goodly amount of the relish you can store what isn't used for Thanksgiving to serve at Christmas time and to give as gifts.

CRANBERRY RELISH

2 pounds fully ripe fresh cranberries
3½ cups water
½ cup cider vinegar
¼ to 1 teaspoon ground cloves
¼ to 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ to 1 teaspoon ground allspice
5½ cups (2 pounds and 6 ounces) sugar

½ of a 6-fluid-ounce bottle liquid fruit pectin

Into a large saucepan turn the cranberries, water and vinegar. Bring to a boil; simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Stir in the cloves, cinnamon and allspice. Measure 7½ cups of this fruit mixture into a very large (5 to 6 quart) saucepot.

Add the sugar and stir thoroughly to mix well. Place over high heat; bring to a full rolling boil and, stirring constantly, boil hard for 1 minute. Remove from heat and at once stir in pectin. With a metal spoon, skim off foam; stir and skim for 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit.

Ladle quickly into clean, hot, wide-mouth, ½-pint fruit jars leaving ¼ to ½ inch head room; place dome lids on jars; screw bands tight. Makes about 9½ cups. If using jelly glasses, cover hot relish with ¼ inch of hot paraffin — makes 12 six fluid ounce glasses.

The Club Creed was read in unison.

Following the business session, Mrs. Marion Waddle introduced Mrs. Richard Rankin, who gave an interesting report of her interest in genealogy. She told the group she started when she was 16 years old, and her interest has grown. She had books

TURKEY TIPS

Many of you will be tempted to stuff that turkey ahead so you won't have to fool with it Thanksgiving morning — DON'T. The dressing does not become completely chilled through when it is refrigerated still inside the turkey cavity, thus you have a danger of spoilage. Do not combine the liquid and dry ingredients of the dressing and stuff the turkey cavity until you are ready to roast the bird.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture also warns strongly against roasting your turkey in the oven all night at a low temperature. This practice allows the bird to remain at a dangerous temperature for too many hours. Bacteria grow rapidly between 40 degrees - 120 degrees F. Keep your family safe. Allow time in the morning to cook your turkey at the regular temperature.

Test for doneness - Meat is done when the temperature of the meat thermometer reaches 180 to 185 degrees. Also check the stuffing temperature, this should be at least 165 degrees. A second way to test for doneness is to press the fleshy part of the drumstick with protected fingers. When done the meat will feel soft, the drumstick will move easily, and the leg joint will give readily.

Research shows that the best roasting temperature for poultry is 325 degrees. The following table gives approximate roasting times needed for thawed stuffed birds: Six to 8 pounds, 3 to 3 1/2 hours; 8 to 12 lbs., 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 hours; 12 to 16 lbs., 4 1/2 to 5 1/2 hours; 16 to 20 lbs., 5 1/2 to 6 1/2 hours; and 20 to 24 lbs., 6 1/2 to 7 hours.

Plan your schedule so that the turkey is out of the oven 20 to 30 minutes before serving. It's much easier to carve.

Do not leave stuffing inside the turkey. Bacteria, which causes food spoilage, "loves" warm cozy places. Immediately after the feast, put the turkey, gravy, dressing, etc. in shallow containers and refrigerate. Freeze immediately in one-meal portions the turkey you will not use within 3 days. FEELING BORED BEING STUCK AT HOME WITH THE KIDS?

Thursday, November 29, we've arranged a meeting so that mothers with young children can attend. Mrs. Arthur Schlichter will be teaching the group how to do "Macrame", at Grace United Methodist Church from 1:00 to 3:30 p.m. Child care will be available.

To register for this and the three following meetings call the Extension Office at 335-1150. On January 31, Decorating On A Budget will be taught by Mrs. Judy Ledbetter, an Interior Designer. Home Beautification with Flowers and Shrubs will be taught by Jim Caldwell, O.S.U. Extension Floriculture Specialist on April 4. The last session of the year on May 30 will feature a demonstration on Lightning Meals by Beulah Hill, Area Home Economics Agent and myself. The $2.00 registration fee for the series includes babysitting.

Ways to save fuel and save money on your heating bill

These suggestions can help you keep warm and comfortable with less heating cost. And they will stretch available fuel supplies to lessen the chance of fuel shortages affecting you and your neighbors.

DP&L

The Service People

Use the lowest thermostat setting at which you are comfortable. (Every degree higher adds 3% to your heating bill.) Set thermostat lower at night.

Insulate your attic and sidewalls. You can save as much as 30% on your heating bill with adequate insulation.

Weather strip around loose-fitting doors and windows. Caulk outside cracks. Storm doors and windows help keep cold out. Clear plastic sheeting stapled to window frames can be used for the same purpose.

Close off unused rooms. Keep doors closed to attached garage and other unheated areas.

Open drapes and blinds to let the sun help warm your home. If there's no sun, close the drapes against the cold. Close drapes at night for the same reason.

Entering or leaving, close outside doors promptly.

Don't block registers, radiators or cold air returns with rugs, furniture or drapes.

Use kitchen and bath exhaust fans only when necessary.

Don't waste hot water. Insulate hot water lines. Fix leaky hot water faucets.

Check furnace filters every 6 weeks. Clean or replace filters if they are dirty. Be sure your furnace is in good repair. Check belt. Oil bearings. Burners should be cleaned and adjusted from time to time by a reliable heating service man.

Close your fireplace damper when the fire is out, or you lose warm air up the chimney.

A humidifier will help you keep comfortable at a lower temperature setting. A pan of water near a heat register can be used to add humidity to the air.

BPW Club plans meeting Tuesday

The finance committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club have planned a program for the regular club meeting Tuesday evening at the Country Club.

Miss Kathleen Stookey and Mrs. Hans Seiler are co-chairmen with members Mrs. Kenneth Arnold, Mrs. Emmett Backenstoe, Mrs. Benny Backenstoe, Mrs. Homer Bireley, Miss Norma Flee and Miss Fern Chaffin. Also serving on the committee are Mrs. Louise Heath, Mrs. Patty Jenkins, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, Mrs. Donald (Tete) Graves, Mrs. Mildred Rodgers, Mrs. John Sagar Sr., Mrs. Robert Seymour and Mrs. Bernard Witherspoon.

Guest speakers will be Kris Henkle and David Mustine, whom the club sponsored at the recent conference on "Drug Abuse" at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware.

A silent auction will be featured, and members are urged to bring items for the auction.

If you are bent on saving time, limit the number of dishes needing much preparation time to one or two per meal. And serve fruit—fresh, canned or frozen—often for dessert.

Blue Lion cagers open Wednesday

Tall, talented and fast mark 73-74 WCH Lions

By DENNIS STAPLETON
Record-Herald Sports Editor

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion cagers, under the direction of Gary Shaffer for the sixth season, bounce into the 1973-74 campaign against talented Portsmouth at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the WSHS gym.

Shaffer's Lions, picked as co-favorites for the South Central Ohio League crown, have one of the quickest and largest teams seen in the Washington C.H. area in years.

HEADED BACK from last year's team, which posted a 10-9 overall record, are four lettermen with two being full-timers a year ago.

Pivotman Jeff Wallace, who stands 6-foot-5, averaged over 10 points last year, and Kenny Knisley, a 6-foot-3 forward, are the starting duo from last season. Bill Shaw and Alan Coppock are the other two letterman returning.

The Lions hold a 15-man roster put together by nine seniors, four juniors and two sophomores.

With a much-improved Wallace returning to anchor the middle and the forward spots being held down by Knisley, Doug Phillips or Mark Essman that leaves the hotly-contested guard positions to balance out the team.

Competition for the starting job at guard has been fast and furious.

Fighting for the backcourt places are speedster Mark Johnson, Jim Vess, Mark Shaw, Jerry Knisley, slick ball handling Craig Shaffer, brother of head coach Gary Shaffer, and sharp-shooting Chuck Byrd. Jerry Knisley, Byrd and Shaffer hold the upper hand in the first string jobs for the opener Wednesday.

Coach Shaffer pointed out that this year's team is the best looking all around squad he has had since starting here in 1968.

The ability to block the opposition off the boards may be the key to the Blue

Lions success to a fast running offense. Getting the rebound pass out to the point man is essential to any team that has the speed to utilize a fast break.

Also aiding to the Lions's cause is the amount of depth on the bench. Coach Shaffer will have plenty of height and speed resting on the side in case they are needed.

Senior Garth Cox, 6-foot-5, and Doug Boswell, 6-foot-3, lead the list of subs on the bench. Also waiting to be called upon will be seniors Coppock and Larry Howell.

ALMOST EVERY position will have a good back-up man sitting on the bench. With support like that the Lions could run forever against their foes.

When asked about the prospects for this season coach Shaffer replied, "We have one of the quickest teams I've ever had and also one of the tallest in the front court. We will assuredly give all we have."

With those two combinations plus the good shooters the Lions possess, the SCOL title, could well be within reach of the Blue Lions.

Preceding the varsity contest will be a preliminary game posting Washington C.H.'s reserve squad against Portsmouth reserves. Starting time for the reserve game will be 6:30.

Falcons defeat Minnesota, 20-14

ATLANTA (AP) — Bob Lee, the field general of an inspired Atlanta offense, fired two second-period touchdown passes Monday night and the Falcons knocked the Minnesota Vikings from the unbeaten ranks of the National Football League with a 20-14 victory in their nationally televised game.

Ignited by a crowd of 56,519 who roared almost constantly the entire game, the Falcons rolled to their sixth consecutive victory. It left them only one game behind the Los Angeles Rams in the National Conference West Division race with a 7-3 record.

The defeat was the first after nine straight victories for the Vikings, who clinched the NFC Central Division crown a week ago, their fifth in the last six years.

Lee, who connected on 10 of 18 passes for 171 yards in the first half, teamed with Dave Hampton on a 19-yard screen pass for Atlanta's first touchdown and then scrambled away from a fierce Viking rush to find Eddie Ray alone near the goal line for a 39-yard scoring strike later in the second period.

However, the Falcons had to withstand a late charge by Fran Tarkenton, Minnesota's scrambling quarterback who once was benched by Atlanta Coach Norm Van Brocklin when both were with the Vikings during the 1960s.

Tarkenton, who threw a 39-yard scoring pass to John Gilliam in the second quarter, drove the Vikings 49 yards in 11 plays and pitched a two-yard touchdown strike to Bill Brown with 6:29 left in the game to cut Atlanta's lead to 20-14.

With less than two minutes remaining, shortly after Atlanta had ground out a first down, Lee fumbled and Jim Marshall scooped up the ball and raced 18 yards where he fumbled, but Alan Page recovered for the Vikings. The Vikings took a 15-yard penalty on the play for tripping, but had possession at the Falcons 48.

Top-ranked Ohio State lost a little ground to Alabama but maintained a 60-point lead over the Crimson Tide today in The Associated Press college football ratings, which showed no changes among the top 13 teams.

The Buckeyes tuned up for Saturday's Big Ten showdown with No. 4 Michigan by trouncing Iowa 55-13. That earned them 34 first-place votes and 1,142 points from the panel of 62 sports writers and broadcasters who participated in this week's poll.

Runner-up Alabama prepared for its Southeastern Conference shootout with No. 7 Louisiana State on Thanksgiving by whipping Miami of Florida 43-13. The Crimson Tide received 16 first-place ballots and 1,082 points. Last week's margin was 1,130-1,068.

Oklahoma, rated third, trimmed Kansas 48-20 and pulled down nine first-place votes and 973 points. The Sooners can clinch the Big Eight title Friday if they beat 10th-ranked Nebraska.

LSU held onto seventh place with 577 points following a 26-7 decision over Mississippi State. UCLA crushed Oregon State 56-14 and stayed in eighth place with 469 points. Ninth-ranked Southern California, UCLA's rival this week, defeated Washington 42-19 and received 407 points.

Nebraska rounded out the Top Ten again with 391 points after downing Kansas State 50-21.

Texas, Texas Tech and Arizona State remained 11th, 12th and 13th, but Missouri lost to Iowa State 17-7 and dropped from 14th to a tie for 19th. Houston, idle last weekend, moved up one position to replace Missouri.

Miami of Ohio, which has completed a 10-0 regular season, climbed from 17th to 15th. Tennessee, which had been 16th, lost to Mississippi 28-18 and fell out of the Top Twenty. North Carolina State jumped from 20th to 16th, followed by Tulane, Oklahoma State and Missouri, with Kansas and Pittsburgh deadlocked for 20th.

Arizona also dropped from the Top Twenty, losing to Air Force 27-26. The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-1816-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Titles loom in Ann Arbor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "There's a lot of bananas hanging on this one for both teams. I've never seen so many awards and titles resting on an Ohio State-Michigan game."

That was the sizeup of the nationally-televised (ABC) Big Ten title showdown at Michigan Saturday by Esco Sarkkinen, an Ohio State assistant who has been a coach or player in the series since 1937.

Sarkkinen, ticked off the conference title, Rose Bowl berth, possible national crown, Coach of the Year possibility, Outland and Heisman Trophy considerations "plus half a dozen All-American honors with an outstanding performance."

The former Ohio State All-American end said, "There are no favorites, no underdogs in this one. It will be a hammer and anvil type of game."

Sarkkinen, who missed six games in the series because of high school coaching and service, said the current Michigan and Ohio State teams are the best ones.

Northwest All-Star grid players picked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Stu Stearns of Bowling Green is the Ohio Northwestern high school football Class AAA Coach of the Year and heads a list of Associated Press all-star selections for that area.

Stearns guided Bowling Green to a 10-0-0 campaign and a semifinal berth in the state playoffs after a 2-8 season last year.

A district panel of sports writers and broadcasters named Mike Snyder of Lima Bath (9-0-1) the Class AA area Coach of the Year and Hobie Krouse of Montpelier (8-1) as the leading Class A mentor.

John Harper of Toledo Woodward, who had eight interceptions this fall for a career total of 21, was the Northwestern Class AAA Back of the Year and Stan Johnson, Sandusky's 250-pound middle guard, the top big school lineman.

In Class AA, Ned Laubenthal of Ottawa Glandorf was the No. 1 area back and Tony Guerrero of Oregon Stritch the leading lineman.

Pfeifer coaching candidate

Three Lion stars eye South all-star spots

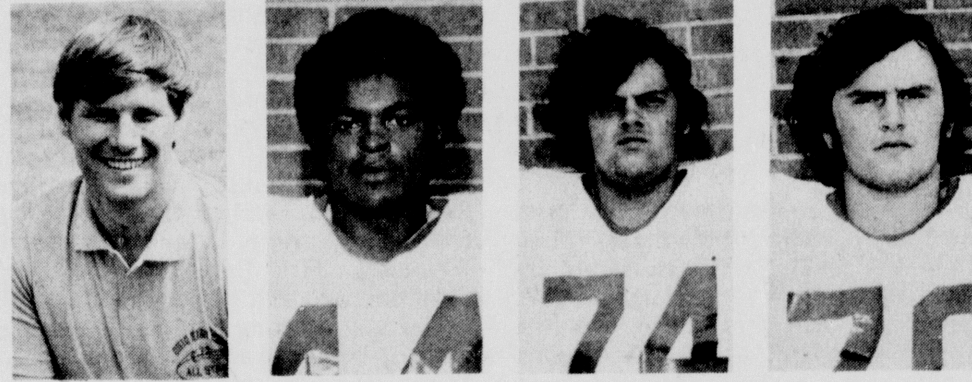

Three members of Washington C.H.'s historic football team have been selected by head coaches from Region 14 of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association as candidates for the 29th annual Ohio High School North-South all-star football game which will be played in Canton's Fawcett Stadium in August.

Chuck Wilson, Garth Cox and John Sanderson were three of eight players selected to represent Region 14 in a pool of 64 gridders from eight regions in southern Ohio which will form this year's 33-man South all-star team.

Washington C.H. head coach Maurice Pfeifer, who guided the Blue Lions to their winningest season ever, was selected as one of the candidates for the South coaching staff. Pfeifer, who just completed his ninth season as the Blue Lion mentor, said the only way he will represent the South team is as head coach since he served as an assistant coach two summers ago. The coaching staff will be picked Dec. 7 and if Pfeifer is named an assistant, he will resign the selection and Tuffy Thompson, head coach at Dayton Park Hills, will fill the vacancy.

THE SOUTH all-star team will be announced no later than April 10.

Each of the eight southern Ohio regions selects six offensive players and two defensive specialists. Each head coach can nominate as many players as he feels deserves the honor as long as the nominating coach is a member of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association.

Washington C.H.'s Blue Lions have fared quite well in selections for the North-South game in recent years as both Steve Ross and Jim Heath were named to play in the game two years ago and Mike Domenico participated in last summer's classic.

Wilson, a 6-foot-1, 185-pounder, was named to his second straight All-South Central Ohio League berth this season. The senior tailback was the league's leading scorer with 184 points and rushed for 1,537 yards on 237 carries.

Cox and Sanderson, a pair of titanic linemen, were both unanimous All-SCOL picks. Cox, a 6-foot-5, 230-pound senior, was the honorary captain of the all-league offensive team, and Sanderson, a 6-foot-4, 275-pound senior, was named the SCOL's honorary defensive captain.

Selected along with the three Blue Lion stars were Dave Adkins, 6-2, 195, Xenia; Rick Grissom, 5-10, 175, Dayton Park Hills; Tom Replogle, 6-1, 205, Xenia Beavercreek; Dave Pickerill, 6-2, 215, Dayton Park Hills, and Dave McGlothlen, 6-2, 250, Xenia. Pickerill and McGlothlen were the Region 14 defensive specialists.

Tough schedule ahead of No. 1 UCLA Bruins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who's afraid of the big, bad Wolf-pack? Not UCLA.

The Bruins will meet rugged North Carolina State this year, not to mention a couple of other national powers, in one of the toughest basketball schedules in their recent history.

But the defending national champions are probably better than last year, too — so that makes it twice as hard on the pretenders to their throne.

"I'm glad it was arranged," says North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan, talking about the blockbuster game with mighty UCLA on Dec. 15 in St. Louis.

It's the Game of the Year, all right, and could provide an early look at the finalists in the NCAA playoffs this season.

To most observers, UCLA and North Carolina State are the 1-2 teams in the country.

The Bruins should build on their glossy, 75-game winning streak this season with the return of Bill Walton, Keith Wilkes and Greg Lee and the addition of Richard Washington, a 7-foot freshman phenom. There's another seven-footer in the imposing UCLA cast — sophomore Ralph Drollinger.

They'll hope to add to UCLA's cache of NCAA titles — seven in a row and nine in the last ten years.

Facing the Bruins, along with North Carolina State, will be Maryland, San Francisco and Notre Dame. And while the Wolfpack will probably be the toughest test for UCLA with David Thompson and Tom Burleson, the others are no easy marks.

Maryland, a tough colleague of North Carolina State in the Atlantic Coast Conference, is at its peak with the talents of Tom McMillen and Len Elmore.

San Francisco, last year's Western finalist against UCLA in the NCAA regional playoffs, is supposedly stronger this time. Returning to the team are the two stars from last year — Kevin Restani and Phil Smith. The Dons are favored to repeat as champions of the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Notre Dame, led by John Shumate, one of the toughest centers in the country, will have two shots at UCLA this season — home and away. The Fighting Irish, with an ironman crew of five players, crystallized into one of the best teams in the nation during the second half last year.

UCLA doesn't expect the Pacific-8 Conference to be any fun, either. Zeroing in on their eighth straight Pac-8 title, the Bruins face heavy artillery from the northern and southern fronts.

"I think this year will be the toughest the Pac-8 has ever been," says Coach Ralph Miller of Oregon State. "I mean from top to bottom."

Even UCLA Coach John Wooden sees improvement in his own conference.

That, of course, includes crosstown neighbor Southern California. The Trojans, who finished second to UCLA in the Pac-8 last year and wound up in the NIT, have retained their starting team.

Indiana, one of last year's four NCAA finalists along with UCLA, Memphis State and Providence, is the pick in the Big Ten Conference and one of the most powerful teams in the country.

Harper applauded

SPRINGFIELD — Lowell Harper, Wittenberg University's standout senior tight end from Washington Court House, played a leading role as the Tigers wrapped up their third unbeaten season in the last five years Saturday afternoon by beating Marietta College 35-7 for the Ohio Conference championship.

Harper set up Wittenberg's go-ahead touchdown by taking a 63 yard pass from Tiger quarterback Lloyd Ball and running to Marietta's three-yard line. Wittenberg scored two plays later.

The Tigers ended their regular season with a 10-0 record and a ranking as the nation's 6th best small college football team.

The victory made the Tigers eligible for a try at their second national championship in five years.

Wittenberg's offense was fourth best in the nation averaging 33 points a game, while the defense ranked 5th after giving up an average of only eight points a game.

METICULOUS CRAFTSMAN — The postage stamp quilt on the bed, now in Colonial Paint Store window, has 4,851 pieces. The beginnings of a new quilt in his hands is an attempt at seeing "just how small I could make the squares," Albert Summers says. They measure 1½ x 1¼ inches.

At 84, he has 'secret of youth'

BY MARK THELLMANN

It's too bad Ponce de Leon, in his search for a fountain of youth, didn't have the opportunity to talk with 84-year-old Albert Summers, the quilt maker.

For those who have passed the Colonial Paint Store and marveled at the postage stamp and ribbon quilts on display in the window, Summers is their creator.

"I have been making quilts and sewing for as long as I can remember,"

Summers said grinning. "I was next to the youngest in a family of 11 and was brought up mainly by my mother and older sisters who loved to piece quilts and sew during the wintertime, when the nights were cold and there was nothing else to do."

That love of creating embraced Summers also, along with raising flowers, canning and baking, which his mother and sister also taught him.

SUMMERS, who lives at 518 Gibbs

Ave., continued about his early life: "When I was 16, I had to quit school and become the family bread winner because my father took sick. At 18, I began working for the railroad for $1.25 a day which I turned over to the family."

Summers smiled and added, "We didn't need money back then to have a good time; we just got together and did!"

SUMMERS told of an old saying which went "no fool, no fun," and admitted he volunteered to play the fool on many an occasion. "That's when times were the most fun for me," he confessed.

In 1938, Summers moved from his birthplace in Ross County to Fayette County where he raised three boys and two girls of his own.

Attention was drawn to his quilt making talents when he attended a dinner for the elderly held at the First Presbyterian Church as part of the Community Action program directed by Mrs. George Naylor.

The program gives the elderly an opportunity to get together and play games, share each other's crafts, hobbies and talents, eat a nutritious meal and, usually, hear a speaker.

"They just wouldn't leave me alone until I brought in my quilts to show," Summers said, chuckling.

He is now faced with a problem because people want to buy his quilts. "I have never sold one in my life!" he exclaimed. "I have given many away to my friends, but I have no idea what to charge or how much they are worth."

SUMMERS, who will be 85 in April, attributes his longevity, sparkling eyes, pleasant disposition and ceaseless energy to the "goodness of God."

When asked if he considered himself a religious man, he replied, "I try my best every day of my life. My early upbringing centered around the church and this has stuck with me. Mother always made sure we got to church every Sunday."

On the subject of drinking, smoking and women, Summers related an experience which left a life-long impression on him.

"I was taught to read in the old McGuffey Reader and I can still remember a lesson which warned, 'beware the first drink.' I did."

Summers also stated he never was attracted to cigarettes. As for women, he smiled and said, "only in moderation; not too much."

Summers' philosophy is the fountain of youth Ponce de Leon never found.

Opening lead — jack of spades.
It would seem that declarer must lose a diamond and a club to go down one in six hearts, but actually South made the slam. Furthermore, there was nothing the defenders could do to stop him, once declarer found the winning line of play.
West led the jack of spades and South made the crucial play of the hand when he elected to ruff it. Had he won the trick in dummy he would have gone down one against proper defense.
Declarer then drew two rounds of trumps and played a low diamond towards the K-6 in dummy, presenting West with a Hobson's choice.
If he went up with the ace, South would later discard one of dummy's clubs on the queen of diamonds and in that way cut off his club loser.
And if West did not go up with the ace, South would win the diamond in dummy with the king, discard his Q-9 of diamonds on the A-K of spades, and in that way cut off his diamond loser. South would lose a club trick, but no more.
If declarer incorrectly wins the opening lead in dummy with a high spade, he places himself in a position where he must decide at once whether to discard a diamond or a club on the trick.
He cannot afford to do this so early in the play, for whichever discard he chooses he must eventually go down one if West defends correctly.
By delaying his discard until a more propitious moment, declarer can place West in an untenable position later in the hand. He forces West to commit himself to a losing choice at trick four instead of subjecting himself to a losing choice at trick one.

Comets are not like streetcars. There won't be another one along for about a thousand lifetimes. So if you miss it this time you'll have a long wait. Marty covered the subject of shooting the Kohoutek Comet in last Friday's column. As more info comes in we'll keep you posted.

The book on existing light photography that has been missing from our shelves for several weeks is now in stock. It's about the most popular book we have. Another popular publication these days is the Alan Stang 15c pamphlet, WATERGATORS. I don't think we've sold any of these yet that the buyer didn't come back and get more copies for his friends. If you want to know what Watergate is all about, Stang tells it all in Watergators. Another of the popular pamphlets of timely interest is Dr. Susan Huck's BILL OF FARE. This gal tells the story of what's happened to our food. I'm hard to shock, but I was really surprised at some of the facts presented by Dr. Huck in this interesting little publication. Yes, we have those and many more interesting reprints, like Taylor Caldwell's AT THE COST OF THEIR SOULS, and SHORTAGES, by Gary Allen — oh yes, Gary has a new one, KIDNAPPED, and if you haven't read that one you jolly well better get it to pronto.

There is another pamphlet you will want to read, VITAMINS. This vitamin situation is rough. We hope you are all writing your Congressman and urging him to support H. R. 643.

Oh, yes, here's a tip from Kodak. Normally, negatives from 110-, 126-, and 135-size color print films are returned from Kodak processing labs in strips of four negatives each. These negatives should always remain in the original strip form in which you receive them. THEY SHOULD NEVER BE CUT APART! There are numbers at the edge so you can identify the negative you wish reprinted or enlarged. Keeping them in a strip makes them easier to print and reduces the possibility of physical damage, the quality is better since the plane of focus is held true, and the negs are less likely to be lost than the small individual negatives.

Hospital budget approved

The 1974 budget for the operation of Fayette Memorial Hospital was approved Monday night the regular meeting of the hospital board.

Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, said the budget was set at $1,046,000. Kunz disclosed the new budget reflects an approximate 9 per cent increase over the projected 1973 operational figures. The budget includes capital expenditures of $40,000.

The board also approved the purchase and installation of a new switchboard system for the hospital's front office. Kunz said the new switchboard system will provide broader administrative telephone lines for the hospital staff and at the same time provide the same patient service.

The monthly statistical report, prepared by Kunz, showed 334 admissions, 337 discharges, 2,171 inpatient days, 36 births, 128 new born patient days, 80.49 per cent occupancy, 92.78 per cent of medical and surgical occupancy, 6.44 days average length of stay, 7.47 days average length of medical and surgical length of stay, 920 X-rays, 4,863 laboratory reports, 1,032 emergency room visits, 212 physical therapy treatments, 466 inhalation therapy treatments, 61 major operations and 75 minor operations.

Kiwanians hear minister

This is a year to be thankful despite the "political disunity and social conflict all around us," the Rev. Wilbur Bullock, pastor of McNair Presbyterian Church, told Kiwanians at their dinner meeting Monday in Lafayette Inn.

The Rev. Mr. Bullock raised such questions as "How long can society endure this?" "Are our hearts so numb toward the feelings of others that we have no feelings for ourselves?" "Will our land of plenty become a wasteland because of our mistakes?" and "How much longer can American democracy endure?"

The Rev. Mr. Bullock emphasized that "the American people have taken too much for granted" and that "we live in the greatest nation on earth, one that guarantees us personal freedom and a democratic way of life. If we are to continue to live in this manner, we must once again put our trust and love in God and in each other, just as did our forefathers who built this nation. We must perpetuate what they gave us."

Louis Kuhlwein arranged the program, and President George Gibbs conducted the meeting at which Roger Kirkpatrick was presented a two-year attendance pin by Richard Maddux.

Eight members signified their intentions of attending the interclub meeting Nov. 27 at Grove City.

Guests were Dave Ellen and Kenneth Hughes with Norman Armbrust and the Rev. Harold Shank, pastor of the Good Shepherd Church, with Robert Angus. Key Club members at Circleville, John Dowler and Larry Scheeber also were guests.

Check cases await grand jury action

Two Washington C.H. persons, charged by city police on a total of 10 counts of forgery, waived preliminary hearing in Washington C.H. Municipal Court Monday afternoon and were bound over to the Fayette County grand jury.

Merle Jones Jr., 18, Rt. 1, Washington C.H., and Dorothy Detty, 19, of Circleville, entered not guilty pleas in Municipal Court Monday before Judge Reed M. Winegardner.

Jones is charged by city police with nine counts of forgery and was bound over under $5,000 bond. Miss Detty, charged with one count of forgery, was bound to the grand jury under $100 bond.

Jones and Miss Detty were arrested Saturday by Police Specialist Larry Walker on charges of forgery after they had allegedly passed a number of forged checks at several Washington C.H. business places. Walker then lodged eight other counts of forgery against Jones before the arraignment hearing Monday.

Ferguson set to retire?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—The Plain Dealer said today State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, 81, is expected to announce his retirement plans Dec. 14 at a testimonial dinner and campaign fund raising event at the state fairgrounds in Columbus.

Quoting unidentified "political sources," the Plain Dealer said Ferguson plans to retire from politics at the end of his term next year and will throw his support to his son, Thomas E., 45, to succeed him.

The younger Ferguson was appointed a $22,000-a-year deputy auditor by his father last July.

Joseph Ferguson was first elected state auditor in 1937 and was re-elected several times before switching to state treasurer. He stepped aside in 1962, boosting his son to succeed him as treasurer.

However, the younger Ferguson lost that race and also lost a bid for state auditor in 1966.

Money Does Matter . . . By David G. Looker "SAVE FOR SOMETHING" IS THE POSITIVE, PRACTICAL WAY!

Are you teaching your child to "save" because it is a good thing to do? If so, take another look at what you are doing.

The most successful approach to almost any course of action is the positive one.

So it is with saving money especially when establishing the habit with young children.

Start early to plant the thought in the young mind that saving money for something is a practical approach to getting what one needs and desires.

Too often children (be they young or adult) adopt the concept that money is only something to exchange for what one wants now.

More often there is greater satisfaction to be realized in deferring spending now for the time in the future when saving will permit getting that we'd much rather have.

Fog, bent sign blamed in crash on rural roadway

Heavy early morning fog and a bent stop sign were causative factors behind an accident at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday.

John H. Hagler, 21, of Bloomingburg, crashed a stop sign which had been bent parallel to Inskeep Road at the Parrott Station Road intersection, investigating officers report.

He traveled through the intersection, off the road, and hit a telephone terminal and a fence owned by Richard H. Davidson, of Rt. 4, the Sheriff's Department said.

Moderate damage was done to the car, the fence and the telephone terminal, according to the report.

AN ANGUS CALF was killed by a car heading south on Good Hope-New Holland Road at 7:35 p.m., Monday.

The calf had run out of a ditch in front of a car driven by Alex Geesling, 66, of Rt. 6.

Moderate damage was done to Geesling's car. The calf was owned by Ann Clifton of 331 E. Market St., officers said.

An unidentified vehicle, which sheriff's deputies are still seeking south on Whiteoak Road, went off the right side, of White Oak Road, then through a fence owned by Catherine Jean Brown, of Bloomingburg, and Mildred Louise Hinkleman of 805 Duke Plaza, according to a report made to officers.

The vehicle then drove three-tenths of a mile in wheat field before crashing out through the fence once again. Moderate damage was done to the fence and property.
